JOHNSTON PLANS TO FILE SECOND PARDON REQUEST

BOISE, Feb. 18 (U.P.) — A second pardon application for Duncan McD. Johnston, former Twin Falls mayor and twice-convicted murderer, has been prepared for filing with the Idaho state pardon board, it was learned today.

The new petition was drafted despite the fact that Johnston's first pardon application was denied only three days ago by a two-to-one vote of the board.

The application for clemency was expected to be filed within the next few days for consideration by the board at its next session, scheduled to start April 1.

Form Filled Out

Friends of the former Twin Falls jeweler have the application form filled out and were reported ready to file it with state officials.

It was understood that Johnston's supporters felt pardon board members expressed sufficient doubt in denying the first clemency petition to warrant filing another request for release immediately.

Under ordinary procedure his pardon application would be filed with W. J. Olson, captain of guards at the Idaho state penitentiary. The deadline for such filing has been set for tonight.

However, Johnston's friends may decide to advertise his intentions to seek a pardon without filing the notice through Olson. After having Johnston's notice of pardon application published in a newspaper of general circulation for four consecutive weeks before the board meets, the former mayor need only show proof of publication to have his case considered at the April sessions.

Doubt Aroused

In casting their votes against Johnston's pardon, both Gov. Chase A. Clark and Attorney General Bert H. Miller said evidence submitted at a special hearing in January aroused considerable doubt in their minds as to Johnston's guilt. Miller stated he would seek another trial for Johnston if such procedure were still possible.

The other board member, Secretary of State George H. Curtis, voted for Johnston's release at a surprise meeting of the board on Monday.

Johnston was convicted for the slaying of George L. Olson, Salt Lake City jewelery salesman, and carried his battle for freedom to the supreme court three times. A third rejection of his request for a new trial ended possibility of further court action.

CIVILIAN DEFENSE BILL IS STUDIED

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18 (U.P.)—The $163,794,819 deficiency bill carrying funds for the office of civilian defense went to a conference of senate and house representatives today with indications that as soon as it is finally approved a reorganization of OCD will be announced.

The senate passed the bill,which provide $100,000,000 for OCD, with the stipulation that all the money be used for equipment and supplies —"not one cent for frills and furbelows."

Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, associate director of OCD and head of the voluntary participation division, has said that she will resign as soon as her department is reorganized and operating efficiently. Mayris Chaney, friend of Mrs. Roosevelt and director of the physical fitness program for children, will be transferred along with her department to the federal security administration under the reorganization plans being worked out by OCD Director James M. Landis.

Movie Actor Melvyn Douglas' employers in Hollywood have advised him that they will not release him for civilian defense work. Douglas was selected by Landis to head the OCD arts council.

Senate passage of the deficiency bill was quiet, in marked contrast to the long discussion in the house of the appointments of Miss Chaney and Douglas. The minor differences in the senate and house versions of the bill are expected to be worked out speedily.

Red Ships Shell Nazi-Held Posts

LONDON, Feb. 18 (U.P.)—Russian warships were reported to have shelled German land positions on both ends of the long front today.

It was problematical whether the daring bombardments still were going on. Dispatches from the front line late last night said Soviet warships were pounding German positions east of Sevastopol and northwest of Yevpatoriya, on the west coast of the Crimea, which the invaders overran last fall.

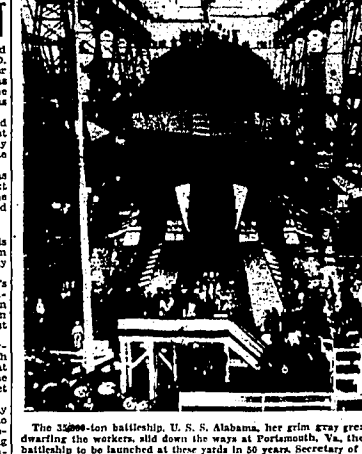

The Russians were said to be using six-inch shells and causing considerable damage.

Axis Losses Big On Libya Routes

LONDON, Feb. 18 (AP)—The British navy with the aid of the RAF destroyed 148,000 tons of axis merchant and naval shipping on the supply routes to Libya in the three months ending Jan. 31, 1942, A. V. Alexander, first lord of the admiralty, announced today.

"The good work still is going on," he said in a broadcast.

U. S. S. Alabama Launched

The 35,000-ton battleship, U. S. S. Alabama, her grim gray greatness dwarfing the workers, slid down the ways at Portsmouth, Va., the first battleship to be launched at three yards in 50 years. Secretary of Knox hailed the launching as the end of the "defense era" and the beginning of the "war era."

Japs Start "Big" Offensive Against MacArthur Units

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18 (AP)—The start of the long expected assault in force against General Douglas MacArthur's lines in Bataan was indicated today in a war department communique reporting increased enemy air activity, much heavier Japanese artillery fire and the landing of Japanese reinforcements at Olongapo in Subic bay just north of Bataan peninsula.

At the same time, however, the department reported that fourmotored army bombers, attacking Japanese ships of Bangka island between Sumatra and Borneo, scored direct hits on two enemy transports, one large and one small, both of which were believed sunk. Two enemy barges were destroyed, with no damage to any of the American planes.

The text of the communique based on reports received here up to 7:30 a. m., Mountain War Time; was:

"1. Philippine theater:

New Air Units

"New enemy air units are appearing over our lines, bombing our troops almost constantly. Another bombing attack was made on the refugee camp at Cabcaben.

"Hostile artillery fire on our forts from positions on the Cavite shore continues. New enemy batteries in Bataan have increased the density of artillery fire on our positions.

"A fairly large convoy of Japanese troop ships has arrived in Subic bay and enemy reinforcements are landing at Olongapo.

"2. Netherlands Indies:

"A flight of American army flying fortress bombers attacked Japanese ships off Bangka island. Direct hits were scored on a large enemy transport and on a small transport. Both are believed to have been sunk. Two enemy barges were destroyed. There was no damage to any of our planes.

"3. There is nothing to report from other areas."

At the refugee camp at Cabcaben, the department reported yesterday, a Japanese bombing attack killed 13 women and 5 children and wounded 13 women and 9 children. Department officials said there was no re-

EQUIPMENT

LOGANSPORT, Ind., Feb. 18 (AP)—Grove Phillips sailed for France with the American expeditionary force June 9, 1918.

Just before he left, he pinned a note with his name and the date on his army fatigue hat, which he left behind.

Now, almost 24 years later, he has the hat back. His son, with the quartermaster corps at Camp Shelby, Miss., found it in a storeroom there and sent it to him.

PROBLEM

NEW YORK, Feb. 18 (AP)—What to do with 10,000,000 metal tokens on sale at 10,000,000 parking lots manufactured in 1938 in anticipation of a seven-cent fare is worrying city officials.

The city inherited the tokens—$175,000 worth—last year when it took over the line, and now is torn between saving them for possible future use should the present five-cent fare be raised, and giving them to the federal government for conversion into war weapons.

SITUATION

KANSAS CITY, Feb. 18 (AP)—A situation that threatened to disenfranchise a number of votes in the fourth ward has been corrected by the election board.

The polling place was located in a grocery store—before the board ordered it moved.

State Blackout Slated in March; First in Nation

BOISE, Feb. 18 (U.P.)—Homer Hudelson, state chairman of the air raid precautions committe, today announced a state-wide blackout will be held in March.

The test will be the first state-wide practice blackout conducted in the United States, he said. Hudelson reported ARP officers awaited completion of practices in northern counties before completing plans for the over-all blackout.

Regional ARP officers will be placed in charge of the state test with a simultaneous blackout handled by direct telephone communication between all points and central headquarters in Boise.

C. E. Arney, state civilian defense coordinator, declined comment on the blackout test. He said he knew of no plans being made or scheduled to be made for such a practice.

HUGE WAR BILL UNDER SCRUTINY OF U. S. SENATE

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18 (AP) — A record-smashing $32,070,901,900 war appropriations moved to the senate today with a 371 to 0 endorsement by the house under committee urging that supplies must be ready against a supreme axis offensive this spring.

House appropriations committee members, introducing the measure yesterday, spoke against a background of information furnished privately by high ranking army officers and urged quick action on the bill, which includes outlays for transportation and other immediate items as well as for long-range production. The house passed the bill with only four hours' debate.

Voice Vote

With similar unanimity yesterday, the senate passed by a voice vote a $163,806,854 deficiency measure, including $100,000,000 for civilian defense against air raids, and returned it to the house for action on minor amendments.

In that bill, the senate left intact house restriction against use of any part of the protection fund for "fan dancing, street shows or other public entertainment" or for the treasury's $80,000 Donald Duck income tax cartoon film.

The big war fund carried $22,888,901,900 for the war department, with a provision that half of this could go for lend-lease aid.

It also included a $5,430,000,000 specific item for lend-lease, raising the total approved separately for such purpose to date to more than $17,000,000,000.

Merchant Marine

Another big item was $2,852,000,000 to carry forward the merchant marine program, the goal of which now is 2,677 ships—or two a day—at a total cost of $6,704,404,956. The schedule this year calls for 786 cargo ships.

The House rejected by a standing vote of 98 to 38 an amendment by Rep. Smith (D-Va) which would have banned the closed shop in industry, and jurisdictional and sympathy strikes.

CITIZENSHIP GOES TO 17 APPLICANTS

Magic Valley had 14 brand-new citizens today plus three more who were repatriated after losing citizenship.

The 17 south Idahoans received final naturalization papers as result of the hearing conducted in district court yesterday afternoon. The applications of eight foreign-born residents were ordered continued. Those included three who were classified as "enemy aliens" because they were born in Germany or Italy.

The 14 persons who were granted naturalization, and the country of their birth, were:

Mary Ann Hamilton Moss, Burley, Britain.

Mrs. Mary 'Mann, Twin Falls, Scotland.

Herbert James Alexander, Twin Falls, Britain.

Jacob Baumgartner, Albion, Switzerland.

Alfred Peder Jorgensen, Kimberly, Denmark.

Mary Katherine Gerlach, Paul, Russia.

Huge Increase in Farm Inventories

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18 (AP)—The agriculture department reported today that the total inventory value of livestock on farms of the country on Jan. 1 was $7,008,411,000, compared with $5,320,000,000 a year ago, $5,132,448,000 two years ago and $4,355,684,000, the 1930-39 10-year average.

The animals included horses, mules, cattle, sheep, hogs, chickens and turkeys. The inventory value, the department said, is not the value of livestock production or income from livestock, estimates of which will be issued later in the year.

Dancer Friend of Mrs. FDR Quits Civilian Defense Post

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 18 (U.P.) — Mayris Chaney, dancing friend of Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, whose appointment to a $4,600 a year position in the civilian defense program aroused severe criticism in congress, resigned today.

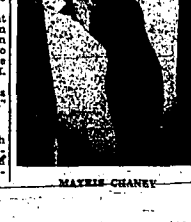

She told Landis that her resignation was intended to halt further controversy. She explained that she had not planned introduction of fan dancing to children, as congressional speeches inferred, and that she wished only to help prepare children for possible air raids.

Miss Chaney, whose appointment in charge of children's activities in the OCD physical fitness division brought criticism from congress to eliminate "frills" from OCD, made her offer in a letter to James M. Landis, director of OCD.

Landis' office said the offer was being accepted "with no comment."

MILFORD J. VAUGHT . . . State AAA chairman and head of the state USDA war board, named as speaker for the fifth annual Farmers' Congress in Twin Falls Feb. 26. Vaught is a Mackay stockman and farmer.

STATE AAA CHIEF WILL TALK HERE

Milford J. Vaught, Boise, state AAA chairman and also head of the state USDA war board, will be one of two speakers at the annual Farmers' Congress which will be held in Twin Falls on Thursday, Feb. 26, officials in charge of arrangements said this afternoon.

Announcement of the second speaker will be made tomorrow as soon as arrangements for his appearance are completed.

Vaught was announced as speaker after members of the Twin Falls Implement Dealers' unit met today. The Congress is sponsored annually by the Times-News with the implement men cooperating. Also aiding in the setup is the Merchants bureau of the Twin Falls Chamber of Commerce.

Unlike past years when morning and afternoon speaking sessions have been held, the speakers this year will appear during the morning. The event will get underway at the Roxy theater promptly at 10:30 a. m.

Implement displays will be placed on the downtown streets, as has been the practice in former years. The afternoon festivities for the visiting farmers will also be arranged. Cafe owners will be asked to cooperate by offering special "Idaho products" meals that day.

STORE BLACKOUT SWITCHES URGED

Many merchants in Twin Falls are "lagging behind" merchants in other communities of this county in the matter of installing outside switches for use during blackouts and other emergencies, Mayor Joe Koehler declared today.

Koehler made the statement after Sheriff W. W. Lowery, in charge of the police setup for national defense in the county, told him that switches are being installed outside practically all stores throughout the county where lights are left burning, and added that "the work is just about completed at Buhl."

Only Four Installed

The mayor said that some switches have been installed in Twin Falls "but they are few and far between."

"We must ask cooperation on this matter," the official said, "and see that the switches are installed at the earliest possible time.

"It is important that such precautions are taken now. Switches in outside locations, known to the air raid warden, would assure all lights being turned out in event of an emergency."

Lowery said today that another thing in favor of outside switches on all business buildings in Twin Falls is that such a move would lead to less congestion."

300 Designated

He pointed out that at the present time an estimated 300 men, who work in the various business establishments, have been designated to come downtown or to the various stores and turn off the lights in case an emergency arises.

Sniper's Bullets Whizz by Head of War Correspondent

Editor's note: The first eye-witness story of Japanese snipers—their hands and faces painted green—in action in the Philippines is related in the following dispatches by a United Press war correspondent who narrowly escaped death in the Bataan peninsula jungles.

By FRANK HEWLETT
WITH GENERAL MacARTHUR'S ARMY IN THE PHILLIPPINES, Feb. 18—(Delayed) (U.P.)—Death, in the form of bullets from the rifle of a green-painted Japanese sniper, whizzed past my head today, and I'm shaking yet.

Walking down these Bataan peninsula battle paths where enemy snipers are lurking is like a boy walking past a graveyard on a dark night. Only you don't dare whistle. You don't dare run, either. Better crawl, and jump from tree to tree. You'd live longer, as three American army officers and I discovered.

These Japanese—nicknamed "the rattlesnakes of Bataan"—take particular pains to pick off officers, but under orders of General Douglas MacArthur, counter-measures have been taken and the menace is being reduced.

The snipers are still around, though, but they're hard to find. The one who shot at me and the officers was killed later. When we saw him we understood why he hadn't even been able to determine where he was firing from. He wore a green uniform that blended perfectly with the foliage of the high tree he had climbed. His face was

U. S. and Dutch Airplanes Sink Jap Transports

By JOHN R. MORRIS

BATAVIA, Java, Feb. 18 (U.P.)—American and Dutch air squadrons, battling Japanese invasion thrusts toward Java, sank a large enemy transport, hit two others and destroyed many barges loaded with Japanese troops, a communique from the United Nations southwest Pacific command said today.

The communique disclosed that a squadron of American fighting planes, attacking an enemy-occupied airdrome, had shot down four enemy fighters without loss and that a Dutch bomber downed two enemy fighters.

Five Japanese bombers were shot down this morning in an attack on the principal allied naval base at Soerabaja, Java, the Aneta news agency reported.

Little damage was reported to the harbor fortress and there were few casualties.

Planes Attack

Twenty-one Japanese planes roamed over the base in waves of 15 and six. The first alarm was sounded at 11 a. m., Java time, and the all clear was heard at 12:45.

Previous reports of allied air attack near invaded Sumatra island listed 11 Japanese ships.

Java pressed its all-out preparations to resist any Japanese landing attempt. A Netherlands Indies communique reported that the eastern Java bombing plane attacked Koepang, principal city of the Dutch portion of the island of Timor.

With the Japanese controlling Singapore, strategic points on Borneo and Celebes and Palembang on Sumatra, the threat of an enemy thrust against Java, center of United Nations resistance, was great.

"Last Ditch" Fight

The government radio yesterday appealed for a "last ditch" fight against an enemy "storming at the gates" of Java and American civilians remaining in the menaced portions of the Indies speeded their departure.

The Netherlands Indies communique said fierce resistance to the invaders was continuing in many places on Borneo island where the enemy had pushed landing forces southward along both coasts.

It acknowledged that fighting on Celebes island, "has almost come to an end." The first Japanese landing in the Indies was made there.

Although Timor is far to the east of Java, center of United Nations resistance in the East Indies, the raid on Koepang was regarded as a possible prelude to a full-scale assault.

FBI West Agents Make Raid Series On Japanese Unit

PORTLAND, Feb. 18 (U.P.)—FBI agent launched a series of quick raids on the homes of members of the "secret Japanese organization" here today, and well-informed sources hinted the action was the result of espionage activities in the vicinity of local shipyards, the Portland air base and Bonneville dam.

J. D. Swenson, special agent in charge of the Portland FBI office, confirmed the raids.

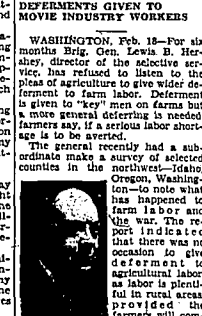

"We are picking up the members of a secret Japanese organization in Portland and searching their homes for contraband," he said.

"We expect at least 30 arrests in Portland and its nearby districts."

Swenson said he was not in a position to discuss the nature of the organization's activities "at this time," but others said the group was "along the nationalist lines."

RANGOON, Burma, Feb. 18 (U.P.)—British and Australian planes heavily bombed Japanese troop positions in the Moulmein area and along the gulf of Martaban today.

FARMERS IRKED AT DRAFT DEFERMENTS GIVEN TO MOVIE INDUSTRY WORKERS

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18—For six months Brig. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, director of the selective service, has refused to listen to the pleas of agriculture to give wider deferment to farm labor. Deferment is given to "key" men on farms but a more general deferring is needed, farmers say, if a serious labor shortage is to be averted.

The general recently had a subordinate make a survey of selected counties in the northwest—Idaho, Oregon, Washington—to note what has happened to farm labor and why. The report indicated that there was no occasion to give deferment to agricultural laborers as labor is plentiful in rural areas. It proved, too, that farmers will compete with war industries and pay

KELLY

$50 a month and "found" for help.

In exactly four days General Hershey received, considered and issued orders to the draft boards in California to grant deferments to actors, directors, writers, producers, cameramen, sound engineers and other technicians, who cannot be replaced because of the peculiar quality of their qualifications and skill and whose removal would cause serious loss of effectiveness.

Farmers don't like this preference given to actors, directors, etc., by General Hershey and the general's refusal to give the farmers a "break" with agricultural labor. Farmers are writing in that food is as important to winning the war as propaganda films on how to pay income taxes and that it is impossible to be such a shortage of workers in the fields this year that Oregon has started survey of every woman in town to learn how many supplemental farm force will be available for picking and cultivating. There is discussion of a similar survey in some of the eastern and especially mid-western states where man power has been depleted.

Such movie people as have gone into the service have been given commissions as commanders, majors, etc., and soft jobs in the national capital. Men connected with the industry by marriage (usually to a glamor girl) are also receiving commissions or well-paid jobs. So far as known, not a single farm hand from Idaho, Oregon or Washington has been brought to the national capital with a commission in his pocket to work on press releases, nor has the production of food ranked with the production of movies as of national importance.

UNITED NATIONS COUNTER-ATTACK ON EVERY FRONT

By JOE ALEX MORRIS
United Press Foreign Editor

Japan's far eastern offensive hammered heavily against allied defenses in Burma, the East Indies and the Philippines today despite stinging counter-punches by American, Dutch and British forces.

The allied main base on Java and the Burma road to China were most seriously menaced by the costly but still advancing drive of the Japanese in the Philippines the men of Gen. Douglas MacArthur suffered hard blows by reinforced Japanese air and artillery units and faced an intensified assault by enemy infantry reserves landed on Bataan peninsula.

The Japanese were suffering heavy losses, too, including five bombers shot down in a new raid on Soerabaja naval base, six other planes downed over Sumatra, two transports believed sunk by American flying fortresses in Sumatra waters and many troop-laden barges destroyed.

Closer to Java

Dispatches from the fighting fronts showed:

BATAVIA — Japanese invasion thrusts closer to Java countered by American and Dutch bomber-fighter attacks sinking one or two transports, hitting another and downing 11 enemy planes over Sumatra and Soerabaja; Japanese take Macassar but Dutch still fight on Celebes; enemy planes raid Timor island.

BURMA—Japanese claim to have smashed across Bilin river and pushed back British-Chinese defense forces toward Taungoon; London reports Bilin defenses holding except for small enemy penetrations.

AUSTRALIA—Government intensifies total mobilization; premier Curtin warns America of danger of invasion if battle of southwest Pacific is lost; Dutch Past Inlet General Sir Hubert Van Mook says United Nations is sending all possible reinforcements to East Indies.

British Successes

LIBYA—British report scoring air and submarine hits on two or three axis cruisers and a destroyer; two British submarines ships lost. RAF bombs Benghazi and Tripoli as British patrols cover wide area of Libyan desert without meeting enemy.

RUSSIA — Red army smashes through German defenses on apparently on central front, battling to break enemy defenders in Vyazma area on road to Smolensk.

In London the theory of economic warfare renewed warnings of imminent German invasion, asserting the Nazis were concentrating on pockets of gliders and others.

TWO PROBES ON NORMANDIE FIRE

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18 (AP)—Two congressional investigations of the burning of the former French luxury liner Normandie were ordered today.

The senate naval committee approved unanimously a proposal of Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich.) that it probe the question of whether the fire at a New York pier as the vessel was being converted for navy use was caused by negligence or sabotage.

The senate later approved the Vandenberg resolution providing $5,000 for the inquiry.

The house naval committee authorized Chairman Vinson (D-Ga.) to appoint a six-man sub-committee to inquire into the "destruction of the USS Lafayette, formerly the Normandie." It empowered the committee to summons witnesses, books, papers and documents and report back "such recommendations as it may deem desirable."

Robeson Lectures On Segregation of Races at Concert

KANSAS CITY, Feb. 18 — (AP) Paul Robeson, famous baritone, prefaced the second half of his concert last night with a lecture against race segregation and told his audience he was continuing under protest.

Some white listeners immediately left the auditorium and others followed throughout the remainder of the program.

As he opened the second half he said he regretted to interrupt a concert to make a speech, but "I have made a life-long habit to refuse to sing before audiences anywhere that audiences are segregated. I accepted this engagement under guarantee that there would be no segregation.

"Since many good leaders of my own race have urged me to cancel this engagement, I shall finish the concert but am doing so under protest."

BRITAIN SENDS HEAVY CONVOYS THROUGH MEDITERRANEAN

TWO MERCHANT SHIPS ARE LOST

By the Associated Press

A hint that Britain may be heavily reinforcing her armies in the middle east, possibly to combat a German thrust into Turkey this spring, was dropped by the London admiralty today with the disclosure that "certain convoys" had been safely escorted through the Mediterranean.

The admiralty said the operations, apparently on a big scale, were carried out between Feb. 13 and 16 with the loss of only two merchant craft.

"The enemy made great efforts to inflict serious loss and published the usual exaggerated claims," an admiralty communique said.

The point of reinforcement was not specified. An Italian communique asserted Monday that a British destroyer and seven merchant ships had been sunk out of a big convoy en route from Alexandria, Egypt, to the bomb-battered island of Malta, about midway between the toe of the Italian boot and Libya, north Africa.

This may have been a movement to relieve the long-suffering Malta garrison or to bolster its defenses against an axis attempt to capture that key island.

Invasion Base?

There was also the possibility that Malta might serve as the base for a British invasion of Sicily or Italy itself.

On Saturday, a German communique said Nazi planes sank a British destroyer and a 10,000-ton merchantman in a convoy north of Tobruk, Libya.

Recent dispatches from the Balkans have told of large number of German troops massing in Bulgaria, Greece and Greek islands—all potential springboard for a German invasion of Turkey, the "land bridge" between Europe and the middle east.

Malta, under increasingly violent assault by German and Italian planes in recent weeks, would be a sharp thorn on the flank of any axis drive into Turkey or across the Mediterranean to Egypt and the Levant states.

The admiralty declared torpedo hits were scored on two enemy cruisers and a destroyer during the sea battle.

While the Mediterranean stirred with new activity, bolstering forecasts that the middle east would become a major theater of the world-wide conflict this spring, Russia's armies surged over deeper into the German winter defense lines.

Stockholm dispatches reported that a Soviet army corps, including six British divisions, had advanced to within 18 miles of old Poland on a drive "with gathering momentum" into the republic of white Russia.

German Claims

A bulletin from Adolf Hitler's field headquarters, vague as to details, claimed for the second successive day that German troops had cut off "and destroyed" Russian forces on the Moscow front and that "more than 1,000 enemy dead were left on the field of battle."

In north Africa, British headquarters reported that British mobile columns pushed deep into the desert region west of Tobruk without encountering opposition.

Military observers in London expressed belief that a recent onslaught by RAF (Curtiss) Kittyhawks which cost the German air force 20 planes probably was the leading reason for Field Marshal Gen. Erwin Rommel's recent withdrawal in Libya.

German air support was reported to have been cut severely by the RAF attacks.

British bombers attacked objectives in northwest Germany last night and returned safely from the operations, the air ministry said.

DNB reported a German warplane scored a direct hit on the turret of a submarine, which disappeared after a violent explosion. The attack occurred yesterday afternoon north of Crete, the agency added.

er materials for an over-water offensive.

The Japanese still were pressing a huge pincers operation against Java, attempting to move in from both Sumatra on the west and from Borneo and Celebes on the north. Enemy air attacks on the islands of Bali and Timor, were Koepang were attacked today, indicated that the northern arm of the pincers was seeking to push down to the smaller islands east of Java.

Threat to Sea Lanes

If that maneuver proves successful, Java would be threatened on three sides and the main shipping routes to Australia would be in danger.

The direct assault on Java was expected at any time. The Dutch government called upon the people by radio to be prepared for a last ditch fight against the enemy's imminent push toward United Nations headquarters on Java.

Dispatches said American evacuation of Batavia was in progress but that the island was calm and prepared to make a strong fight.

JAYCEES LAUNCH MEMBERS' DRIVE

Twenty-two members were reported enrolled today in the annual Twin Falls Junior Chamber of Commerce membership drive, which, commenced this morning with a "kickoff" breakfast in the Rogerson hotel.

Tom Sine, Jaycee chairman in charge of the drive, announced 22 members had signed, including several new men, and that 53 points are to be distributed for the two teams working in the field.

Teams Organized

Speakers were Mayor Joe Koehler, Ray J. Holmes, president of the Twin Falls Chamber of Commerce, and Voy Hudson, chairman of the Twin Falls Merchants' bureau.

"The city of Twin Falls," declared the mayor, "frequently has sought and obtained the cooperation of the Junior Chamber in civic activities."

Holmes discussed the work of the Senior Chamber, which, he said, effected profit in taking a project over to Jaycees for completion.

"One example of cooperation between Jaycees and the Merchants' bureau," Hudson pointed out, "is the fourth of July celebration. It is financed by merchants and staged by the Junior Chamber."

The Teams

Teams working in the drive, which ends at 6 p.m. Tuesday, Feb. 24, are led by Ray Moon and John Yaple. Moon's squad is Jack Carson, Oliver Helms, Howard Worley, Barney Atkinson, Bud Buffington and Bud Ross.

Yaple's team includes Henry Danner, Carl Weaver, C. E. Harder, Chuck Allen, Ralph Gillette and Bob Greene. Sine announced Greene succeeds George Detweiler.

Winning team will dine March 10 on two-inch New York cut steaks, and the losing unit will get brown bread and beans at the general membership session of the Jaycees.

"Stockton will discuss labor prospects," said Palmer, "and he will report on the labor hearing lately held at Pocatello."

SNIPER BULLETS MISS REPORTER

painted green, his hands were green and he wore green shoes. He wore lineman's climbers to aid in scaling the trees and his ammunition was green.

Our sniper is still up that tree. He had tied himself to a limb, and when an American rifleman picked him off his body remained high in the branches.

My experience with the sniper came when I accompanied Maj. Joseph Chabot, New York, and Maj. John Pugh, Washington, D. C., to investigate a sector where a small group of Japanese had been cut off.

A lieutenant colonel advised the American officers to wait until dark to make the trip, but they were anxious to get the desired information so we started out. We were in sight of our destination when we stopped to talk with a tank corps lieutenant.

"Any snipers around?" asked Major Pugh.

"I haven't heard of a one on the trail," the lieutenant said, and with this reassuring information we stepped into the middle of the trail to talk. Just then a bullet kicked up the dust a foot from where we were grouped. Another whined past my ear, and then two more shots whistled past.

Before the third and fourth bullets whined past, however, the four of us were rolling in the brush. I saw the officer crawl behind trees and I followed their example.

"Anyone hit?" asked Major Chabot.

All had escaped injury so we started squirming through the bush, flat on our bellies. It isn't pleasant to burrow through jungle, but you're glad to have such a cover when there's an enemy waiting to pick you off if you show yourself. When we were out of range we got to our feet again and compared notes. No two could agree on where the shots came from.

"Trying to find those fellows in the trees is like hunting canaries," one officer explained. "They are just as elusive. Maybe we needed to get a few of Alvin York's neighbors from the Tennessee hills to handle these fellows."

There already are men here, however, who are hunting down the snipers. One such group, named the Rizal legion in honor of a Filipino patriot in the rebellion against Spain, is composed of natives. It was formed by Capt. Andres Soriano, one of the island's wealthiest businessmen.

All in all, our counter-snipers are running up a very nice kill on the enemy. They aren't dressing in green to do it, either.

JAPAN INCREASES FURY OF ATTACK

port of casualties in the second bombing of the camp.

The war came closer home to Americans with a presidential warning that the country's shores could be attacked and word from the Canal Zone of possible U-boat base in the Caribbean area.

But there was cheering evidence of an eventual naval comeback in the Pacific. The destroyer Shaw, once officially listed as lost in the Pearl harbor attack, arrived at a west coast port from a limping trip to Australia under its own power and is being reconditioned for active service.

Emergency Bow

The vessel made the 2,000-mile voyage with a stub emergency bow, fitted in two months of repairs in Hawaii. Navy officers who described the voyage said at Honolulu that the Shaw was in drydock at the time of the Dec. 7 attack and was hit repeatedly by bombs, one of which exploded her magazines and wrecked the forward section. Secretary Knox on Dec. 15 had listed the Shaw as among vessels lost in the raid.

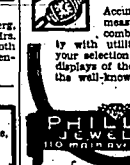

President Roosevelt's warning of the possibility of attack came yesterday in a press conference. He said the enemy could shell New York or drop bombs on Detroit under certain conditions.

Asked whether he thought an attack on Alaska was possible, Mr. Roosevelt replied in the affirmative. To the question of whether American air and naval strength was sufficient to prevent such attacks, he replied, certainly not.

Hidden Base?

Speculation over the possibility that German submarines might be operating from a hidden base in the Caribbean area arose in Miami in the wake of the Monday U-boat raid off Aruba. Army and navy men hoped to get a clue to the location of the base of the undersea craft within the next few days.

Washington awaited official reaction from Rio de Janeiro to the torpedoing of the Brazilian steamer Buarque, the first hostile axis action against the Latin republic. In 1917 Brazil declared war on Germany following the sinking of Brazilian ships.

Utah Woman Asks Jewelry, Cash Return

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 18 (U.P.)—Mrs. Emma J. Bauer, siderly Salt Lake City widow, attempted today to recover $25,000 and $32,000 worth of jewelry which she accused her chauffeur, Lewis A. Fisher, of taking with him last January when he left her employ.

Police are holding Fisher in the county jail here in charge of grand larceny. He was arrested at a swank Beverly Hills house which Mrs. Bauer claims he bought with her money. A $2,224 car found in the garage also was purchased recently with her money, Mrs. Bauer said.

The widow asked the California courts to instruct authorities to impound the jewelry, house and car. She alleges that a check for $25,000 was entrusted to Fisher last January with instructions to deposit it to her account in a Salt Lake City bank. Instead, she said, Fisher banked the money in his own name at Murray, Utah, and shortly afterward took $32,000 worth of jewels and came to Los Angeles where he has lived in style ever since.

The suit requests that her cash and jewelry, or its equivalent, be returned to her and that in no case should it be returned to Fisher.

RED CROSS PECAN SALES ARRANGED

Pecan nuts which will go on sale Saturday, Feb. 21, at Twin Falls business establishments for the benefit of the American Red Cross war relief, are "of the highest quality."

Dr. Charles R. Scott, drive chairman of the Twin Falls chapter, said he inspected the pecans which have been stored with W. B. Savage at Kimberly.

Donated by Kansan

"The pecans were the property of C. R. Greer Caney, Kan., theater owner, who contributed them outright to the American Red Cross," explained Dr. Scott.

A salesman became stranded in Idaho with Gregg's 40 100-pound sacks, hence two tons of the nuts will be available for sale here. Storage charges will be donated by Mr. Savage.

Group of Camp Fire Girls under the guardianship of Mrs. C. N. Ross, will sack the pecans in five-pound bags.

"Five pounds will cost 50 cents, which is 50 per cent of the market price," said Dr. Scott.

Sponsor Groups

Sponsoring the event to make certain every cent will enter the Red Cross war relief fund will be the Twin Falls Merchants' bureau and the Idaho Association of Retail Food Dealers, central district.

The pecans will be sold at practically every mercantile establishment here. In larger stores, a special counter or booth will be arranged with Red Cross women as special salesladies.

Dr. Scott remarked today:

"Dec. 7 was Jap Sunday but Feb. 21 will be 'nut Saturday' with a grand opportunity to get a big value purchase and contribute to a wonderful cause."

BRACKEN KILLER SEEKING PARDON

BOISE, Feb. 18 (U.P.) — Danny L. Williams, convicted for the murder of Craig T. Bracken, Twin Falls police officer in 1939, has filed application for pardon with the Idaho state pardon board.

His application will be heard at the April session.

Williams, who said "three years of incarceration have shown me the error of my ways," asked for a personal hearing before the board.

He asked for a commutation of his life sentence because "I desire to offer my services to the government, either in the armed forces or in some other way helpful to democracy."

"I do not wish to die in prison here a worthless convict, and pray that you reinstate give me an opportunity to rehabilitate myself," he said in his pardon application.

Williams said he desired to give some information to the pardon board regarding his case "which has not heretofore been properly considered."

Williams was convicted of slaying Bracken in a gun battle which followed the robbery of a service station.

Switches for Stores Called Alarm Need

"This would mean, in the event of an alert being sounded, that some 200 men, most of them in cars, would be dashing here and there about the city, all trying to get to their post. It might lead to wrecks and confusion. It would be much simpler for the regular air raid warden to circle his block, turning out the lights as he went by means of the outside switches."

Those merchants having a setup where installation of outside switches would be practically impossible should confer with Lowery to map a plan covering their places of business.

EDUCATION PLANS FACING CHANGES

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 18 (U.P.)—"Education as usual" has gone the way of "business as usual" for the war's duration, and a lowering of selective service age limits to 17 years is essential, W. Howard Pillsbury, of Schenectady, N. Y., president of the American Association of School Administrators said today.

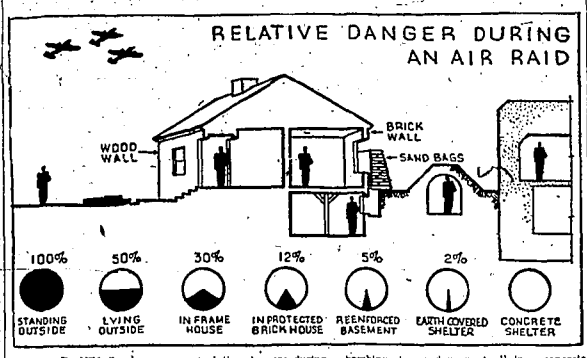

Because of the war, priorities in education are necessary, he added. Training for war industries and the armed services; producing goods and services for war, and conserving materials by prudent consumption and salvage is more essential than the free-and-easy liberal arts courses that have been pursued for many years.

This program will be detailed to some 12,000 members of the American Association of School Administrators, who convene here Saturday, and to the council of guidance and personnel associations and the National Association of Deans of Women, who opened preliminary conventions last night.

A highlight of the administrators meeting will be introduction of a resolution calling for lower selective service age limits to include youths between 17 and 19 years old.

The proposal already has been drafted by the education policies commission of the administrators; tomorrow it will be given its finishing touches for presentation to the convention.

When Bombs Fall—FLOP!

By NEA Service

The toll taken by enemy bombs on civilian centers can be slashed to a minimum by the observance of a few elementary rules.

The chart above, prepared under the direction of William J. McGuinness, an engineer in charge of the structural air raid precautions course at Pratt institute, Brooklyn, shows relative dangers during a bombing, not considering direct hits.

A man caught outside during an attack will be twice as safe if he lies prone on the ground instead of standing. Compared with standing outside, the man would be in only 30 per cent as much danger if he were in a frame building, 12 per cent in a protected brick house, five per cent in a re-inforced basement, two per cent in an earth-covered shelter and in no danger at all in a concrete shelter.

"People in skyscrapers should consider themselves lucky, for they would be relatively safe during an air raid," says McGuinness. "However, those in old brick buildings whose floors are supported by the outside walls would be in danger of injury from building collapse if a 500-pound bomb struck even 50 feet away."

CLARK OPPOSES PENSION REPEAL

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18 (A.P.)—Congressional leaders applied new pressure today for speedy repeal of pensions for congress despite a protest from Senator Clark (D-Idaho) that the nation's lawmakers were being asked to "back up and crawl in a hole."

Responding to an appeal made by Democratic Leader Barkley on the senate floor yesterday, the senate civil service committee promised to begin hearings on repeal legislation today with probable action Thursday—the same time the house civil service committee slated a similar repeal measure for consideration.

"I hope the senate will be able to attach the repeal as a rider to some bill," Barkley told reporters. Such procedure would permit immediate consideration. The floor leader said he believed "the country wants this repealed" and that the senate wants to vote on this now."

Rep. Nichols (D-Okla) reported that 150 house members had signed an informal petition being circulated in an effort to force a repealer out of committee.

Meanwhile, Senators Clark (D-Idaho) and Mead (D-NY) and a few others sought to rally opposition to the repeal move.

"To repeal this legislation in the face of this insidious pressure will leave a mark upon the American people that will go further to destroy their confidence in this congress than any other single thing," Clark told the senate yesterday.

Much of the ridicule and irony which greeted the lawmakers' action in voting pensions for themselves was attributed by Clark to a Spokane, Wash., luncheon club. He said the club was composed of "drifters, bums, wealthy men" who "have nothing more to do in thes troublesome times than to sit around and make fun of their congressmen."

Here's How to Save Gasoline, Make Your Auto Last Longer

By JOHN M. MECKLIN

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18 (U.P.)—You would not have believed it a year ago. The petroleum industry's campaign to reduce oil consumption is just one of many paradoxical incidents in a nation at war.

Thus, take heed of the folders you soon will receive with your change at gasoline filling stations. They're part of Uncle Sam's war effort. At the request of Petroleum Coordinator Harold L. Ickes, the petroleum industry will circulate them in an effort to avoid rationing of oil supplies.

The folders, to be distributed by all the nation's 200,000 filling stations, both to cash customers and by mail to credit buyers, will urge:

Clean Carburetors

"1. Make sure your carburetor is clean and adjusted to the most economical mixture for efficient operation.

"2. Have your ignition system and spark plugs checked. Be sure your engine is tuned up to top efficiency.

"3. Have all moving parts checked. Regular lubrication lengthens car life and prevents waste of gasoline.

"4. Drive carefully. You get your greatest gasoline economy between 35 and 40 miles an hour. You get your greatest tire life under 40.

"5. Don't accelerate too fast. Don't use first and second gear longer than absolutely necessary. Sudden bursts of speed waste gasoline and wear out tires.

"6. Don't over-use the choke, or race the engine when starting. Automatic chokes should be inspected.

"7. Be sure car wheels are lined up properly to prevent excessive tire wear and waste of gasoline.

"8. Have your tire pressure tested regularly. Under-inflated tires and 'wheel drag' waste gasoline — wear out tires."

You think these are pleayunish measures? Hardly.

Healthy Saving

The oil industry estimates that 3,000,000,000 gallons of gasoline could be saved annually by elimination of waste, and when you "gun" your motor or challenge that taxicab in the next lane to race when the light changes, you're doing just that — wasting gasoline.

Five billion gallons of gasoline would keep 1,000 single-engined planes in the air 83,000 hours. It would power 1,000 tanks over 166,000 miles. If that much gasoline can be saved by careful driving, consumer rationing is unlikely for a long time.

This was Ickes' suggestion yesterday when he testified before the oil subcommittee of the house committee on interstate commerce, revealing facts and figures—none of them encouraging—on fast-developing oil shortages on the east coast and in the Pacific northwest, both as a result of tanker sinkings and diversions to war duties.

FUND ASKED FOR WIDOWS OF WAKE

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 18 (U.P.)—Two representatives of the California State Federation of Labor left for Washington today to seek compensation adjustments for the widows of civilian employes killed, injured or captured in the occupation of Wake island by the Japanese.

C. J. Haggerty, president, and Charles J. Janigan, attorney for the federation, said they would seek an amendment to the federal longshoremen and harbor workers act to compensate dependents of those civilians who stood shoulder to shoulder with the United States marines in defense of the little outpost.

There has been no official announcement of the number of civilians killed, wounded or captured at Wake. The navy department placed figure at 1,000. Tokyo radio broadcasts have reported the arrival of 1,200, but said 300 more were left at Wake to aid the Japanese in reconstruction of the base.)

Decision to attempt amendment of the act was reached by the federation's executive council after consultation with international representatives of electricians, plumbers, building and construction trades, pile drivers and engineers. The bulk of the civilian employes were believed to be from the northwest. The Morrison-Knudsen Corp. of Boise, Ida., was the contracting firm engaged on the Wake island project.

VOCATION TRADE COLLEGES URGED

POCATELLO, Feb. 18 (A.P.)—Establishment of vocational "trade colleges" in Idaho was proposed by C. E. Roberts, state superintendent of public instruction, at a meeting with Bannock county school officials.

"Beyond high school, some way must be found which is economically feasible to train our 'handminded' youths in the 'skilled trades,'" Roberts said.

Small schools are financially unable to provide such instruction, Roberts said.

He proposed that such "trade colleges" be set up in the upper Snake river valley, at the University of Idaho southern branch in Pocatello, at the NYA school at Weiser, in north Idaho and in central Idaho.

Hawaii as 49th State Proposed

POCATELLO, Feb. 18 (A.P.)—The Bengal, student newspaper at the University of Idaho southern branch, proposes admission of Hawaii as the 49th state.

"We should like," an editorial in the paper said, "to see the American governmental philosophy extended westward, to see a state which has expressed its desire to become affiliated with this nation become actually a governmental unit of this country."

Japanese Successes Point to Early Threat Against India

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Wide World War Analyst

The Japanese successes in the orient and their consequent threat to India have brought that great empire to the verge of momentous developments.

The way the leaves of fate are falling there is a likelihood—or so it seems to me—that the war at long last will bring India either a far greater degree to independence from England or slavery under the yoke of Nipponese conquerors.

When I was in India during the first World war the Japs were boasting openly that one day they would possess this land where princes are so rich they don't know their own wealth. Today, a quarter of a century later, the Mikado's empire blazers are claiming that the fall of Singapore finally opens the way to Hindustan. And we aren't in position to refute this claim now.

The Japanese thrust into Burma is reported today to be continuing and undoubtedly they are preparing for a grand offensive against that country. Possession of Burma would be the entering wedge for India.

With this threat rapidly developing Chinese Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek and his famous wife, who is his right hand advisor, are in India to impress on the people the need for an all-out war effort.

Successful defense of the vast Indian domains, with their population of some 389,000,000, depends in large degree on the Indians themselves. To be sure, the British have some white troops there, and a native army of about a million has been trained, and part of it is in service. Some of these troops are over-seas.

In any event, defense of India calls for a united effort of the whole people, both the states of native India which are under the princes, and British India which comprises the provinces. It is at this point that we encounter a political issue which is causing concern in London.

The demand in British India for absolute independence from England hasn't abated with the war. The powerful Indian National congress, of which Mohandas Gandhi is the spiritual leader, has been particularly active in this crusade. Gandhi always has stood for peaceful methods, but at times some of the extremists have broken away from this and there have been untoward events and bloodshed.

The position at the moment is that the nationalist have expressed a desire to cooperate with the government in defense of the country, but are unwilling to render full cooperation short of a pledge of absolute freedom. As a result India approaches the great crisis with a house at least partly divided against itself.

Famed Writer of Dog Stories Dies

POMPTON LAKES, N. J., Feb. 18 (A.P.) — Albert Payson Terhune, 69, whose simple stories about dogs won him international fame, died today.

Once a robust character, six feet two inches tall and weighing 230 pounds, Terhune drove himself relentlessly until he was 64. Then he retired.

Death came at Terhune's estate, "Sunnybank," where he lived with the collies which he made famous and which in turn brought him fame.

HAILEY, Feb. 18 — The Sadie Hawkins party given by the girls' glee club Friday evening, Feb. 13, was a success. It was given in the high school gymnasium and well represented.

Prizes were given for the "Cake walk," to 10 contestants. A solo by Shirley Glenn, Ketchum, and a tap dance by Byron Brooks, Hailey, was also given.

SUBMARINE SINKS BRAZILIAN CRAFT

RIO DE JANEIRO, Feb. 18 (U.P.)—The government prepared a communique today to inform the public, after its gay Mardi Gras carnival yesterday, that the Brazilian steamship Buarque had been sunk in the first attack on Brazilian shipping by submarines since the severance of relations with the axis.

The government withheld the news until today in fear that excited crowds, who danced and sang in the streets by hundreds of thousands last night, might have taken mob reprisals against axis property and nationals here and in other towns.

Informants said it was unlikely that the government would take a more forceful part in the war on the allied side because of the submarine of the Buarque.

The view was taken that such incidents must be expected as the result of the government's severance of relations with Germany, Italy and Japan.

Gov. Chase A. Clark today designated both Sunday, Feb. 22, and Monday, Feb. 23, as state legal holidays in honor of Washington's birthday.

The governor asked Idahoans to "take stock of themselves and see if they are doing everything in their power to revere the memory of George Washington and the privileges which, through him, have been conveyed to these United States."

Cornell Brothers Again Turn Down Draft Registering

CALDWELL, Ida., Feb. 18 (U.P.)—Erving and Vance Cornell of Middleton today had refused to sign draft registration cards, continuing opposition to selective service which last year resulted in conviction of their brothers for draft evasion.

C. E. Bales, chairman of the Canyon county selective service board, said the two brothers contended that under selective service regulations the board clerk was permitted to place their names on registration cards if they refused. The clerk filled in the cards and sent them to the local board office, Bales reported.

Last year Clark and Boyd Cornell, their brothers, were sentenced to a year in federal prison for refusal to register during the first draft registration.

FUND ASKED FOR WIDOWS OF WAKE

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 18 (U.P.)—Two representatives of the California State Federation of Labor left for Washington today to seek compensation adjustments for the widows of civilian employes killed, injured or captured in the occupation of Wake island by the Japanese.

C. J. Haggerty, president, and Charles J. Janigan, attorney for the federation, said they would seek an amendment to the federal longshoremen and harbor workers act to compensate dependents of those civilians who stood shoulder to shoulder with the United States marines in defense of the little outpost.

There has been no official announcement of the number of civilians killed, wounded or captured at Wake. The navy department placed figure at 1,000. Tokyo radio broadcasts have reported the arrival of 1,200, but said 300 more were left at Wake to aid the Japanese in reconstruction of the base.)

Decision to attempt amendment of the act was reached by the federation's executive council after consultation with international representatives of electricians, plumbers, building and construction trades, pile drivers and engineers. The bulk of the civilian employes were believed to be from the northwest. The Morrison-Knudsen Corp. of Boise, Ida., was the contracting firm engaged on the Wake island project.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. White, 227 Eighth avenue east, were pleasantly surprised last night.

OUR LENIENT PARDON BOARDS

Now that the state pardon board has denied Duncan M. Johnston's application for clemency, and editorial comment could in no way be construed as interference with due processes of justice in this particular case, the arbitrary responsibility that the board seems to have taken unto itself is worthy of discussion.

In Idaho, apparently, courts and law enforcement are regarded as routine preliminary procedure preparatory to the pardon board's final decision. The state long since has been made laughing stock for the way its pardon boards have turned criminals loose upon society. In a number of cases such criminals have returned to their former haunts to commit crimes even more serious, but even such repetitious acts of violence have failed to deter our pardon boards in their soft-hearted benevolence.

Citing the Johnston case merely as an example, the defendant was convicted twice and both convictions were appealed to the state supreme court. Despite all this legal procedure and its resultant cost to the taxpayers, one member of the pardon board voted for Johnston's release and the other two indicated a similar desire, although they finally opposed a pardon.

One of the latter two said in effect that if he had any way of giving the applicant a new trial he would do so, and the other explained that while he felt he should oppose a pardon, there were sufficient facts to cast doubt in his mind as to the true situation in the case.

If all the hubbub about this latest application for a pardon were an exception, it would be a different story, but it seems to have become a common practice with Idaho pardon boards. The stock excuse for such repeated leniency is that the state penitentiary is inadequate to house all of our criminals.

If that's the case, it's high time that we enlarge the penitentiary. If not, the people of Idaho should demand a change in pardon board policy. Otherwise law enforcement agencies will naturally become demoralized, the purpose of our courts nullified, and we'll be overrun with criminals who will regard Idaho as a soft place to "take a rap."

WHEN THE SHOE PINCHES

Government statisticians have used a substantial amount of pencil lead in the last few weeks and the net result of their figuring is this: there are not enough men in the United States to do the job at hand. The only possible answer is a draft of labor. This drastic step—never taken before—would place every worker under Washington's thumb. The wage earners would serve where they are told and probably for compensation fixed by the capital's head men.

By 1943, there will be approximately 10,000,000 in the Army, Navy and Marine corps—more than twice the total in World War I. To provide them with enough planes, tanks and guns, double that number will be necessary in converted plants which once turned out finished products for the comfort or necessities of the civilian population. This means that within the next two years, three additional men or women must join the production ranks for each one in it now.

Currently the idea is to delay passage of a civilian conscription bill until the shoe begins to pinch. When the shortage become acute, the only recourse will be to tear persons from their regular positions and require them to do their bit on the assembly lines. The obvious truth is that troops in the field cannot do their part unless they are fed, clothed and supplied. Personal convenience must give way all along the route when it interferes with the objective.

BUILD THE ROAD TO ALASKA

The War department has officially approved the International highway to Alaska as "desirable from the viewpoint of national defense." The House Roads committee has received this highly conservative view of the $25,000,000 project, and is now fishing about to find out the attitude of the Canadian government.

It seems that a telephone call ought to settle that. With the South Pacific teetering on the edge of being completely lost, and the Navy unable to assure complete protection to coastal shipping, ought not every possible step be taken to assure overland supplies to Alaska and northern Canada? For who are we, who have watched the attack on Hawaii, the loss of Hong Kong and Malaya and most of the Philippines, to say that an invasion may not be made in Alaska or the northwest coast?

The date for beginning this work ought to be set only by the weather, not by further deliberation.

American leadership in production of raw materials soon will begin to have an effect on the raw stuff the axis has been getting away with.

The fisherman who used to catch old brass beds and tires can hardly wait until spring.

TUCKER'S NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

RAY TUCKER

EXILE—The duke of Alba is one of the world's most prized noblemen. He is a descendant of King James II on the English side and of Christopher Columbus on the Spanish end. He has misty, historical connections with the Churchills, founder of Winston's famous family. But he deserves current headlines chiefly because he was able to buy a six thousand dollar American automobile at a time when not even Leon Henderson can wangle a recapped tire for his cheap flivver.

A month ago His Grace, now living in London, forwarded through British channels a request for permission to purchase the expensive limousine. It came across Price Administrator Henderson's desk and he snorted. The supply of motors was once a prominent member of the Friends of Spanish Democracy, a fiercely anti-Franco organization. Not so long ago he entertained the "friends" at his home here, with Poetess Dorothy Parker as guest of honor, and the rally broke up in a window-smashing scuffle between Reds and uninvited photographers from a local newspaper.

So the duke's application waved before Leon's bulred face like a crimson flag. A baggy-trousered proletarian, he saw no reason why the noble exile should be allowed to buy a car when American citizens were riding buses, making other sacrifices for the democratic way of locomotion and losing their jobs through conversion of the Detroit industry to wartime production. "To hell with the duke," he said as he tossed the petition in the wastebasket.

SLOW—But the hotheaded Leon rebuffed the distinguished member of royalty without consulting Cordell Hull. The duke was just another cheeker to the Price Administrator. To the secretary of state he was rather an important pawn in the game of international diplomacy.

Although minister of education in the last royal cabinet, Alba is regarded as a Spanish liberal. His English connections commend him to the Court of St. James and to the Churchill government. He is the duke of Berwick as well as the duke of Alba, deriving his British title from the fact that his primeval ancestor, a natural son of James II, married Mistress Arabella Churchill. London's assignment in the whirligig of world politics is to prevent Spain from joining the axis, and Alba is counted on to block or delay such an alliance. So Mr. Hull figured, perhaps rightly, that it might be advisable to try another experiment in "appeasement."

Leon's prohibition of the sale was overruled by the state department with the approval of the White House. The car was shipped to a New York dock, where it was held pending arrival of certain necessary papers, including the purchase price. It seems the duke was a bit slow about that little matter. But the limousine, including several spare tires, is now en route to His Grace.

NEWS—General Douglas A. MacArthur's crisp, laconic communiques from Bataan have excited favorable comment from writers and editors throughout the country. But historical accuracy punctured the legend that these inspiring dispatches are tossed off by World war II's hero in the midst of shot and shell. He has a rewrite man at the capital — Lieutenant Colonel Francis V. Fitzgerald, an ex-reporter. Here is the inside story of those daily statements:

The general scribbles a rough message describing details of the fighting late in the day, which is nearly the next morning Washington time. He forwards his report to Corregidor by plane, messenger or portable radio. Naval operators on the island in Manila harbor short-wave the account to Honolulu, whence it is relayed to the capital in the early hours. It is on Colonel Fitzgerald's desk when he reaches work. He revises the coded script, paraphrasing freely to make it difficult for the Japs to break down the cipher. If the MacArthur original were issued to the public, the enemy intelligence officers to intercept more confidential data.

Around 10 a.m. the colonel—who was born in Minneapolis, once served as secretary to a Utah governor and did newspaper work in Salt Lake City, Los Angeles and Kansas City—walks into the army press room. Reporters huddle around him while he stands under a large-scale map of the Philippines. If, the story of the day requires elucidation, Fitzgerald helps it with references to the wall outline. Then he flips out his fat watch from his vest pocket and gives the signal for the correspondents to flash their offices simultaneously. When big news like the fall of Manila comes through, he takes the precaution of locking doors and pulling shades.

EVIL—The deeper motives behind government retirement-plan lobbyists' drive to drag congressmen into the federal pension system has not been disclosed in Capitol Hill debate or editorial discussion. The hidden factors cast a more sinister light on the honorable action in voting themselves a pro bono publico bonus.

Uncle Sam's employes and their paid emissaries have been struggling since 1919 to convince congress that they deserve a pension system provided by their old age. They have had to buck Presidents, cabinet members and private economy groups. Calvin Coolidge restricted retirement pay to $900 annually with the fat explanation that "no man should receive more than $1,500 a year, but he left a nice estate to his children." Herbert Hoover promised to expand and regularize the system but he never did. One of F.D.R.'s first acts in the 1933 program of spending was to slash the amount payable to the superannuated. It has been a hard battle, and ordinarily the unpensioned lawmakers were hostile and unsympathetic.

But the fact that members of both houses have now become beneficiaries is bound on to change things. Instead of dealing with antagonistic legislators, the lobbyists will be talking with friends and allies. Future proposals to liberalize terms and payments, insanely much as they currently will receive the votes who vote on these propositions, will be easier to obtain. The pensioners have been smart. They have operated in accord with the ancient political policy of "If you can't beat 'em, join 'em." There is the fundamental evil of this back-scratching scheme.

OUT—Mr. Roosevelt set a style for men's headgear when he had his portrait painted Abraham Lincoln's for the birthday of the Civil war President. For nine years F.D.R. has paid floral tribute to a chief executive whose war-time burdens approximated those which the White House must shoulder today. Previously he always attended this ceremonial in a top hat. But last week he wore his old gray fedora. After Military Aide "Pa" Watson had placed the presidential offering at the foot of the famous statue of the rail splitter, he whispered: "What's the idea of wearing that thing instead of a topper?"

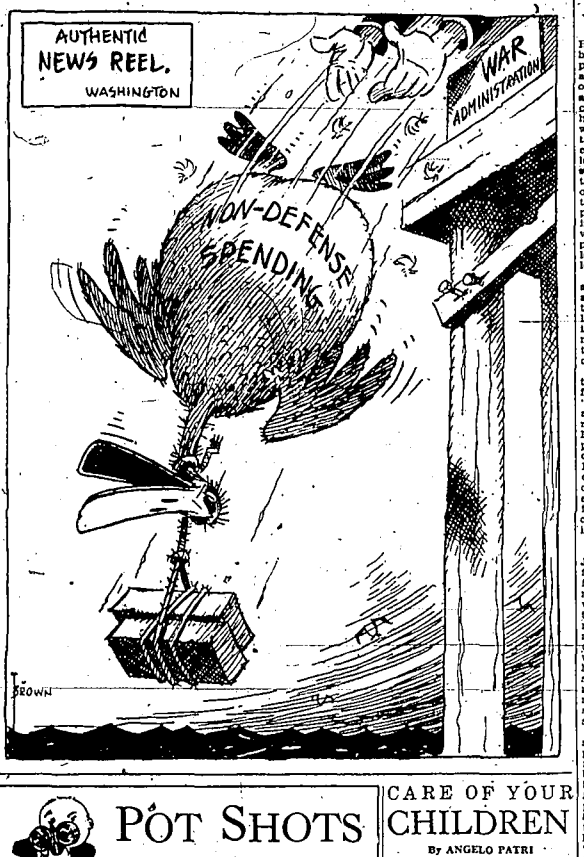

"Listen," replied Mr. Roosevelt, "top hats in the United States are out for the duration"

Other Points of View

THE GHOST OF THE IDAHO SAGE

The ghost of the late Senator William Edgar Borah of Idaho, who served as a valet for half thirty for a long line of Presidents, (including Franklin D. Roosevelt), still plagues the White House, says an observer of the national scene at the nation's capital. As chairman of the senate foreign relations committee, the Idaho senator inaugurated a system of daily press conferences. His great prestige here and abroad enabled him to continue the practice when he became only the ranking Republican member. Many a time he influenced the course of overseas events and policy with a seemingly impromptu remark dropped in these late afternoon interviews. He had built himself into an international institution at the time of his death. Tom Connally, who now heads the committee, always admired his predecessor. In some respects he affects the former chairman's dress and physical characteristics—flowing tie, long hair, beribboned spectacles. Cordell Hull also revered the Idaho sage and he does not object to the more superficial Connally imitations. But the secretary of state does with that the Texan would not carry his attachment to such a degree that he holds two formal conferences a week with the press boys. Tom talks too freely and explosively for these perilous times. And he is no Borah!—Pocatello Tribune.

PROVING AGE CANT DIM THE YANKEE SPIRIT

Sleuth RH tells us about the belligerent 65-year-old.

This elderly Twin Falls fellow wanted to sign up for civilian defense. It happens that the registration is now all over for the time being. So they told the 65-year-old that maybe later on he could sign up.

"Doggone it," quoth he, "I want to do something for defense. I tried to join the army. Too old. I tried to join the navy. Too old. I tried to join the marines. Too old. That's the way everything is—they told me I'm too old."

He pounded a table.

He meant it, too. Practically stormed out the door.

VERY RUGGED INDIVIDUALIST MOVES HIS CLOCKS!

Dear Third Row:

Many a rugged individualist out on our farms has just thumbed (figuratively) his nose (not so figurative) at this matter of moving the clock one hour ahead for war time. I know many's the farm where the farming gents have their watches on the "old" time and the ladies have theirs on war time because they have things to do in town.

Most rugged of the individualists, in my opinion, goes all these people at least one better. Consider the case of Emil Johnson, a sturdy rancher not far from Kimberly. Emil read in his newspaper that the gov'mint was changing the clocks and he approved of this very much. Only he didn't read much past the headline. When the time came to change the clocks, Emil moved his one hour BACK. After which, with the air of a job well done, he marched out to milk his cows.

Not long afterward a neighbor spent a full 45 minutes trying to convince him that the gov'mint wanted clocks moved ahead. "Anybody would know better'n to move clocks like that," vowed Emil. As loyal Democrat, he's terrifically shaken by the whole thing. I'll bet any three cents the Pot Shots can still find dollars to doubt that the Johnson clocks are still two hours behind war time.

QUERY, WHO'S THE DUNCE?

Pot Shots:

In the paper was a column, "School days again—hoarding was the wrong answer."

This picture gives the idea that anyone who has any sugar on hand, is a hoarder. The American people have not had to live from hand to mouth, and a great number have always kept a good supply of staple groceries on hand, and have never before been considered "hoarders or dunces," as this picture indicates. If a dunce cap is to be put on anyone, put it where it belongs, on the ones that limited the beet crop, and tried to kill the sugar industry in the U. S.

HISTORY OF TWIN FALLS

AS GLEANED FROM THE FILES OF THE TIMES-NEWS

15 YEARS AGO—FEB. 18, 1927

Committees for the Jesters' Mardi Gras to be given Friday evening at Danceland, have been appointed and are now actively engaged in completing arrangements. Chairmen are Leonard Avant, Miss Gertrude Owens, Miss Angela Beckwith, H. J. Jamme and J. T. Rich.

Mrs. C. L. Rogers, who planned to arrive yesterday afternoon to visit her daughter, Mrs. J. Paul Thoman, was delayed by reason of a wreck of another train on the track before the one on which she was traveling, and was compelled to await the clearing of the track.

27 YEARS AGO—FEB. 18, 1915

Miss Thelma Senior was most agreeable surprised last Saturday evening when about twenty of her friends marched in unannounced. Her mother had planned the surprise, the occasion being her birthday. Hearts decorated the rooms. Games were played and a general good time enjoyed until a later hour when a lunch was served.

Mrs. J. W. Tanner was a guest in the city Tuesday from Filer.

Attorney M. J. Sweeley returned Saturday from Boise, where he had been for several days on business. While in the capital city, he attended the Lincoln Day celebration.

CARE OF YOUR CHILDREN

By ANGELO PATRI

PARENTS HAVE RIGHTS, TOO

Parents have a right to a life of their own, one apart from their children. When the children come the parents have to adjust their lives considerably. Many of their pleasures they enjoyed together must be given up for the children's sake. Much of the time that they used to spend together must now be given up to the children.

Mother is rather thoroughly tied to the home, father not so much so, but the old togetherness is likely to go by the board unless a special effort is made to hold on to it.

It is worth holding on to. The greatest joy a father and mother can have is this feeling of partnership, companionship and mutual enjoyment of happy hours. Sharing, sorrow and grief is to lessen it by half and sharing joy is to double it.

But how can this be done when the children are little and the time is so filled with their care?

Spiritual Understanding

Occasionally there can be time for nothing but the spirit of sharing, a spiritual understanding between father and mother, an unspoken sympathy coupled with a readiness to give strength to the lower is needed by the other. If this feeling is held and cherished the opportunity for practical expression is certain to come.

As the children grow the opportunities increase and the first happy feeling of togetherness returns, not in its original exultty, but enriched and mellowed by the experiences shared.

A chief right of parenthood is a certain parental reserve. There is the fun of playing with the children, the intimacy developed in guiding and directing them, the friendship and affection that binds parents and children in family unity, but beyond them all is the untouched reserve place where there is no intrusion of child or child problems.

In this retreat of the spirit the parents meet to talk over their friendships and hopes and loyalties. It is that secret place which gives father and mother a glow of magic, a touch of the mystic, to attract and hold the children and at the same time, save the parents from drowning under the flood of commonplace details that go to make up family life.

Hidden Reserve

There was always something about father that we did not understand and of which we stood a little in awe, until his death. His spiritual reserve it must have been, that kept him just a little above and beyond this world's griefs."

Often this reserve is not discovered by the children until it is discovered by a bundle of old letters, or a story told by an old family friend. "Why, I never knew mother felt that way about us. Or about herself. I wonder why she never told us."

Because she and father knew that in order to preserve their own souls they had to maintain this spiritual reserve, had to guard this secret place of the spirit to which they retreated when weariness or pain, or grief overtook them. They had to keep this quiet place to which they could go together and find each other again, as once they were, friends and lovers. That is a parental right.

If you find it difficult to get your boy or girl to mind, the fault is probably yours. Send for Angelo Patri's booklet, "Problems of Children," enclosing 3c coin and 2-cent stamp. Address Angelo Patri, care Times-News, P. O. Box 75, Station O, New York, N. Y.

ANALYZING CURRENT NEWS FROM NEW YORK

COALS — A gasoline shortage in Hawaii — a penalty to Pearl harbor and Hickam field losses and super-increased demands — has created an unforeseen aftermath. High officials privately fear a coal famine at a premium there. One of the difficulties the army had to surmount was the complication caused by the emergency use of low - grade fuel which ate away the rubber lining of the self-sealing tanks in some airplanes. Such cooking is a new invention which prevents fires and leakage loss, should an enemy bullet hit the petrol reserve.

ALBERT LEMAN

Tankers have been scarce because, although they are almost as much a part of the navy as a warship, their order is compelled to "carry coals to Newcastle." The Japs are pumping many of the world's richest wells from which the A.B.C. forces had planned to get their petroleum. Now we must transport oil across great oceans to reach Burma, New Zealand, Australia, or to whatever spots we can still sailing. This drain, added to the destruction of shipping by U-boats off the Atlantic and Gulf coasts, will create an even greater gas famine in eastern United States.

MUSHROOM — The warning by Joseph B. Eastman, director of defense transportation, that "travel for mere pleasure of sight-seeing must be curbed" has alarmed those who depend on the summer vacation trade. Although tourist centers realize that lack of private automobiles will damage the business of overnight cabins along big highways, they had hoped to reap a full harvest from train passengers. They still anticipate that conditions will not be so severe since the government, by encouraging baseball, has shown that it recognizes the wholesome tonic of recreation.

Lake, mountain and seaside resorts and winter playgrounds are also planning to pool school buses—not needed in July and August — to bring visitors to them. A tremendous number of private automobiles in vacation that the materials are merely for their personal protection but the answers do not ring true. All would be useful to an enemy advancing toward the isthmus.

Mexican patrols have been increased along the sparsely populated Pacific coast, which secluded coves were once the rendezvous of pirates who sailed the Spanish Main. Previous to the war Nazi ships discharged cargoes there. Coast guards fear that possible raiders and submarines might sneak into the bays for fuel, supplies, and information. Planes landed from these ocean runners might be concealed. The unsettled area is too close to the Canal zone for comfort.

NATIONAL CAPITOL

"War time" — Shoving the clock ahead one hour — is intended to save kilowatts which can be devoted to war industries. While this point has been stressed by the federal power commission as a great conservation measure, President Roosevelt has assured the baseball moguls that the ball game should proceed this year as though there was no war — it upbuilds the morale of the people.

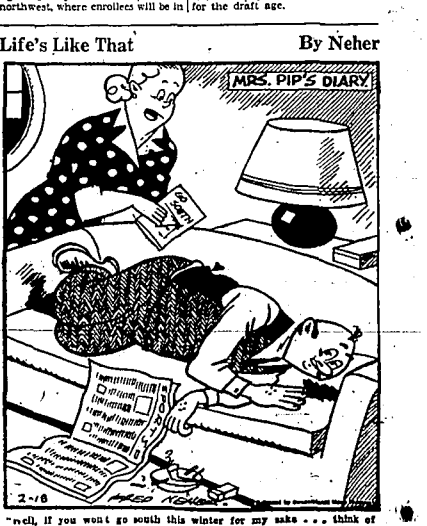

However, night baseball consumes a tremendous amount of electricity, even in the public parks. Here it will work out in the northwest has not been determined, for gatherings of crowds such as the Rose Bowl football game, the proposed meeting to instruct fire wardens in Portland and elsewhere have been suppressed by the war department. Prediction is that the clock will be given another push in a couple of months, making the time two hours ahead instead of one.

Recruiting has started for the CCC camps and it is estimated that about 10,000 youths will be enrolled this month. This enrollment is designed chiefly for the camps in the northwest, where enrollees will be in protection of forests against fire as specified in an amendment made to an appropriation bill this month by Senator McNary, Oregon, and supported by American Forestry association, which embraces practically all the timber owners in the Douglas fir area, the states of Idaho, Oregon and Washington.

Most of the boys in CCC are from 17 to 19 years, although they can enlist up to 23 years. To join the CCC the applicant must be unmarried and without a job; pay is better than that of a private in the army. A monthly wage is credited with $30 a month of which $16 is sent to his parents, $7 is set aside to accumulate for him during his enlistment, and $5 is given as pocket money. A CCC leader draws $45 a month; and assistant leader $35. The organization for the fiscal year 1943 (starts next July) will be cut to the bone, due to importance of safeguarding the forests of the northwest against incendiarists and saboteurs. It is imperative that the camps in or near the Nevada be recruited to full strength. CCC will be in competition with the army for man power only when the applicant is over 20 years old, the minimum for the draft age.

TWIN FALLS COW TOPS HERD TESTS

"Gin," registered Holstein in the dairy herd of L. J. Tenskinck, Twin Falls, was the highest test cow in the Twin Falls-Mini-Cassia Dairy Herd improvement association, according to the January report issued by Bernard Law, Burley, association supervisor.

Highest averages were made by the herd of Carl Harder, Buhl, over 20 cows; the herd of Joe Gisler, Rupert, between 10 and 20 cows; and the herd of Edwin Ames, Heyburn, less than 10 cows.

Lots of Milk

Law reported 419,516 pounds of milk were produced, in addition to 14,700.9 pounds of butterfat. There are 710 cows in the association of which 571 are milking. Forty-three herds were tested.

NO POWER LACK, STATE INFORMED

BOISE, Feb. 18 (AP)—Idaho has no power shortage, President C. J. Strike of the Idaho Power company has informed the state board of publicity.

The board is seeking to procure war industries for the state and is completing a survey of industrial resources for the use of federal agencies and private industries searching for plant sites.

"If additional power facilities are required, it would be in connection with a defense industry yet to be constructed," Strike wrote the board. "If there is no surplus reclamation power available to meet such demand, and speed is essential, Idaho Power company has available plant sites on which the preliminary engineering work has already been completed, and stands ready to develop such sites promptly."

He pointed out the upper Salmon plant was completed within 12 months and that with priorities a similar feat could be accomplished.

Farmers Told Loan Unit Ready To Assist in Victory Efforts

GOODING, Feb. 18 — More than 200 persons at the National Farm loan association meeting held in Gooding Saturday, Feb. 14, heard William M. Reed, general manager of the Federal Land bank declare, "Twenty-five years of service to agriculture has prepared the Federal Farm Loan system to meet whatever problems may confront agriculture in our victory effort today or in the readjustment period which must follow the war."

Julius Schmitt and Ray Adams, Gooding, were reelected directors of the Northside association; Earl Peterson, Fairfield, was elected to succeed W. J. Packham on the Camas county board; E. C. Asmussen, Wendell and E. A. Root, Hagerman, were reelected to the Sun Valley board and James DeNeffe, Hagerman, was reelected director of the Southern Gooding county association.

Boards Elect

Officers elected by the boards were: Fred Brown, Carey, president and C. O. Paulson, Richfield, vice-president of the Sun Valley association; Julius Schmitt, president and E. L. Hoodenpyle, Gooding, vice-president of the Northside association.

J. E. Maxwell, Wendell, was named president and E. L. Simonton, Wendell, vice-president of the Gooding county association and Louis Walton, Fairfield, president and Henry Bauscher, Fairfield, vice-president of the Camas county group.

Leon Weeks, Gooding, was reelected secretary-treasurer of all four associations.

Other directors of the associations are W. R. Ritter, Shoshone; Charles Abbott, Hagerman; Ralph Faulkner, Gooding; R. W. King and L. J. Hughes, Wendell; Lester Wylder and Ben Wilson, Fairfield.

Several loans have been completely paid off this past year in the Gooding office, according to Secretary Weeks. The amount of indebtedness was reduced by thousands of dollars as the result of payoffs, advance payments and regular installment payments.

Mr. Weeks reports this has been a good year for farmers to get out of debt and the office has now fewer accounts overdue than at any time in many years, and most of the delinquent items are of a temporary nature only. Most farmers have paid ahead for one or more payments.

25th Anniversary

Mr. Rees pointed out that this year marks the 25th anniversary of the founding of the Federal Land bank and in that quarter of a century the bank has loaned more than $180,000,000 to more than 500,000 farmers in the four northwest states. He went on to point out how the Farm Loan system has now been through two wars but they have paid for the experience and now intend to use it for the benefit of agriculture.

Other speakers were Ernest Palmer, county agent for Gobding and Elbert Cone, FSA supervisor. They both told of the need for cooperation by farmers in the victory effort and they both stressed the fact that farmers should raise their own gardens because of the possible rationing of canned goods.

They also suggested that farmers should order their machinery repairs now while those repairs are still available.

Dr. E. H. Ikard told of the progress being made nationally and locally in the fight to control Bang's disease.

Luncheon was served at noon by the Methodist women's society.

BEET YEAR BEST IN TWO DECADES

Sugar beet growers in Twin Falls county face the most favorable income outlook in more than 20 years, L. E. Wilson, member of the county AAA committee in charge of the sugar beet program, said today.

The committeeman quoted department of agriculture estimates that beet growers throughout the United States are expected to average between $8.50 and $9.25 per ton of beets, the largest return since 1920. The estimate compares with a U. S. average price of $6.75 for the three years 1938 to 1940, and included both processor and federal benefit payments.

Greater production of sugar beets is needed in 1942 because of the war-stimulated demand for use of sugar cane for industrial alcohol used in munitions, and shipment of sugar to our Allies. War in the Pacific also has cut off some of the normal cane sugar supply, and unusually large distribution of sugar in 1941 reduced the "ever-normal granary" of sugar by more than a million tons.

Distribution of sugar to wholesalers and private and industrial ce sumers during 1941 jumped to 8,000,377 tons, raw value, compared with the 1940 distribution of 6,890,702 tons, raw value, the previously highest figure.

Growers' substantial increase in income in 1942 will be due both to higher market prices for sugar and increase in federal sugar payments. There will be no limitations on sugar beet acreage in 1942.

Wholesale prices for refined sugar have been placed approximately $1 per hundredweight higher than the 1938-40 average under price ceilings established by the office of price administration. Base rates for benefit payments was raised one-third, from 60 to 80 cents per hundredweight, raw value, of the sugar made from beets, when the Sugar Act of 1937 was extended in December for three more years.

Pola Negri to Try Comeback In Hollywood

She is seeking a role in the movie version of Ernest Hemingway's "For Whom the Bell Tolls." However, her Hollywood agents said she had been offered several parts.

Miss Negri left Hollywood in 1935 to take up residence on the French Riviera and appeared at intervals on the European stage and screen prior to the war.

Seed Spud Sacks On Essential List

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18 (AP) — The war production board considers the use of burlap bags for shipment of seed potatoes essential to the war program, Senator Nye (R-ND.) said today.

The senator was informed by WPB officials that measures were being taken to insure an adequate supply for moving seed potatoes into growers' hands this spring. He said officials expected to announce their plan "in a few days."

Jap Flag Flies In Congress But Solon Yanks It

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18 (AP)—The Japanese flag flew briefly in the halls of congress Tuesday, but only until Chairman May (D-Ky) of the house military affairs committee discovered and destroyed it with a muttered "to hell with Japan."

The miniature flag was one of three—the other two were British—placed by a congressional library attendant to mark military movements on a map in the speaker's lobby off the house chamber. It designated the location of Nipponese troops.

It hadn't been up long when May discovered it. The Kentuckian removed it angrily and tore it to shreds.

"They can mark the Japanese movements with a pin or something else," he commented, "but we don't want that flag in here."

U. S. SHIPS EVERYTHING TO HELP, NETHERLANDS REPORTS

LEADER EXPECTS FULL ASSISTANCE

SYDNEY, Australia, Feb. 18 (U.P.)—Lieut. Gov. H. J. van Mook of the Netherlands East Indies said today that the United States was sending "everything it can lay its hands on" to the southwest Pacific for United Nations defense against the Japanese.

"They have transport facilities enough and there is no reason to fear that the material can not be shipped," he said.

"Once the United States gets het up, it really does a drastic job."

Van Mook came to Australia to confer with government leaders on joint defense problems of the Netherlands East Indies and Australasia.

He prefaced his statement regarding United States aid by saying American opinion was now turning to the Pacific.

"I have not found any under-rating of the Pacific front there," he said. "There may have been a failure early in the Pacific war to understand the full implications, because the complete elements of the problem itself were not understood.

"American Way"

"Now the United States and President Roosevelt are convinced of the value of attack, and they will go about things in a very American and very drastic way in the next few months, swinging over entirely to war production."

Van Mook said he did not like allied strategy.

"We should not go on the defensive all the time," he explained. "That is the big mistake, that the democracies are thinking in terms of defense.

"The policy of constantly retiring to prepared positions can, I believe, lead to a position in which the allies might lose the war."

He said he thought that if Japan did not attack Russia, Russia would attack Japan.

Van Mook said the Netherlands would defend Java as long as possible against an expected Japanese attack and could hold it for a time without help.

Could Fight Alone

"We would not be shocked if we had to fight alone," he said. "But that would mean much more than defeat of the Netherlands East Indies alone."

Meanwhile, the Australian war cabinet, preparing for total mobilization, decided to cancel commercial radio-telephone service to the United States and the Netherlands East Indies effective Saturday.

Officially approved relays of radio broadcasts to the United States by radio-telephone will be permitted.

It was understood that the government at a secret emergency meeting of parliament Friday would announce a drastic series of measures to prepare for total mobilization against a possible Japanese invasion attempt.

Sailors Find It's a Relief to Camp on Former Fairground

By FRANK ELLSWORTH
(Company 42-12)

NAVAL TRAINING STATION, San Diego, Calif.—Making it the fourth time since our company was formed, the men of Co. 42-12 moved last week from the regular training station to Balboa park, which is on the opposite side of San Diego.

The camp grounds at which we now are situated were formerly used for the world's fair. The buildings used in training the sailors were entertainment and exhibition places. Our company bunks in the federal building. Some have signs over the doors designating them as exhibition rooms of certain countries — some of which have been taken over (temporarily) since the exposition by the axis powers.

Perfect Spot

Trees, bushes, shrubbery and greenery are in abundance all about the grounds. The scenery is perfect for a camp grounds of service men because it doesn't become tiresome so quickly as an ordinary camp site.

Outside the zone restricted for the training camp are other buildings formerly used in the exposition. In some of these buildings part of the displays still are on display.

Beyond the gate of the camp, about one-fourth mile distant, is the San Diego zoo. Our company hikes through the zoo on two successive days. The fellows weren't compelled to attend the second day, but the turnout was almost 100 per cent.

Athletics

Athletics play a larger part in the day's activities here than in the former camp, with everyone having an opportunity to participate. Each afternoon on week days, athletic events take place from 4 o'clock until sundown. On Saturday and Sundays the entire afternoon is open to athletics for all who care to take part. Football, basketball, volley ball and softball are the main events, and the companies compete against each other on Saturdays and Sundays.

First liberty for our company came last week-end. All the men of the company were allowed an 11-hour liberty to spend in the vicinity of San Diego. It was a big event for the men and one for which they had been waiting.

Graduation day for our company was Feb. 21. This marks the group in readiness for sea duty at any time. The company has begun to break up as drafts come in for schools, special assignments and stations where men are needed. Days when the drafts come are also looked forward to by the sailors.

And, while we are on the subject of "big events," one of the most popular times of the day is mail call, which comes twice a day. For some, it brings boxes of cakes, cookies, candy or cigarettes; for some letters or post cards, and for some disappointment. Even the shortest letter or card from some one may keep a sailor from getting "down in the dumps" at mail time. It is an unhappy sailor that receives no mail for days at a time.

As for packages of good things to eat, they accomplish two purposes: First, the receiver has something out of the ordinary to eat; second, the receiver makes new friends by "divvying up" with the other sailors. If there ever is a time when "a feller needs a friend" it is when he's in the service. So when a person sends a box to a service man he can be assured he is helping that service man make friends, besides satisfying that sweet tooth.

Suggested motto for all of you folks at home: "Send more mail to the men in the service," and camp will be a much happier place.

REVIEW SET FOR 2 DRAFT GROUPS

Orders to review immediately the cases of all men who have been classified 1-B and 4-F were received from state headquarters today by Twin Falls county selective service board No. 1.

"The order will affect all men who were given such classifications under the old procedure of physical examination by the local examining physician, who in other words have not been subjected to a screening examination," explained Capt. J. H. Seaver, jr., chief clerk of the local board.

Classification 1-B refers to men who are physically fit for limited military service only. Classification 4-F refers to registrants who are physically unfit for service.

"The new orders also affect men who were given such classifications as a result of being rejected at an army induction station, but who have since been accepted by a traveling army medical induction board," he said.

"It is expected that a large percentage of these 1-B men and these 4-F men will be reclassified at an early date."

SOLON FORESEES IDAHO PROJECTS

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18 (AP)—Senator Thomas (R-Idaho) said today he saw in a statement by Secretary of Interior Ickes "new hopes for possible early development of two major power, flood-control and reclamation projects and numerous strategic metal mines in Idaho."

Referring to Ickes' statement, filed with a senate public lands subcommittee, which investigated western resources last summer, in which Ickes referred to the Scriver creek and Palisades projects in Idaho as necessary, Thomas — member of the sub-committee — said in a statement:

"Designation of these projects as 'necessary' by the secretary of interior, 'to provide power for war purposes,' will unquestionably speed up their development."

Ickes informed the sub-committee, Thomas said, that he was in favor of establishment of two plants on Scriver creek in Valley county to produce 120,000 kilowatts of electrical energy at a cost of about $21,000,000, which would include transmission lines linking them with the Black canyon plant in Gem county and the Anderson ranch plant now under construction in Elmore county.

He estimated immediate cost of the Palisades project in Bonneville county at $11,900,000.

The burget bureau previously had rejected the Palisades project as unnecessary at the present time, because a showing had not been made as to its use in the war effort.

Boy, 3, Wants to Shoot Jap—Uses A Doll Instead!

SALT LAKE CITY, Feb. 18 (AP)—Three-year-old Robert John Towers wanted to shoot a Jap. So he borrowed a doll from his year-old sister, Marilyn, and propped it up on the bed on which Marilyn played.

Then, just to make things a little more realistic, he put a 30-caliber bullet—which has father had picked up on the street—into his popgun and pulled the trigger.

His missed the "Jap" and the bullet lodged in a wall.

Mrs. H. A. Towers heard the explosion and Robert's scream. There was no sound from little Marilyn.

The mother rushed into the room but Marilyn was playing with the doll, unconcerned at the holes which had frightened her brother. Robert's nose was scratched slightly by fragments from the exploding shell.

MUST ACCEPT CHALLENGE OF "SONS OF SATAN"

Editor Times-News:

I read the Spokane article with a great deal of interest and congratulate the Times-News on having such fine news service. However, I do not agree with the gentleman in his many pointed arguments. Had the American people been united and accepted the president's foreign policy in the beginning of this struggle we would have been better prepared to meet our foes.

Remember, too, that we had enemies within our borders that did not want us to be prepared. Therefore, this is no time to talk peace, when the enemy is at your door, unless you want to receive the mark of the beast upon your head.

And so the gentleman thinks the way to win wars is to be decent to all humans. I could agree to that if he will prove our aggressors are human and not cruel barbarians. Furthermore China was a peace loving nation, the same as we claim to be, until Japan started her undeclared war upon her. We all like to remember the Ten Commandments but when your neighbors insist upon returning evil for good, it is time to do something about it.

Yes, the sons of satan who deny the existence of God have challenged us and we have accepted the challenge and with God's help we will win this war of the Pacific. "His arm is not shortened that He cannot save, now His ear hearing that He cannot hear." Furthermore Jesus said: "I came not to bring peace, but a sword."

How come? Well it is like this, the things that Jesus Christ stand for and the things that the democracies are fighting for are not acceptable to the axis forces. The things that Nation stand for we will not accept, so we fight on. All honor and glory to the nations that refuse to accept the mark of the beast. Yes indeed, God does win wars, of course upon His own terms and with His own kind of weapons. Do you not think the Lord was on the side of Washington and Lincoln?

Can we doubt longer that this war is about in the Pacific? It narrows down to the single question, whether we can survive or they?

We want to add that we think our president and Winston Churchill have done a magnificent job in building up so quickly an army, a modern navy and air force to meet our enemies. More power to them. Let me say to the conscientious objectors. If your forefathers and my forefathers had believed as you do, we would not have an America today where you have a right to express your opinions.

SAYS JOHNSTON INNOCENT; CITES OTHER PARDONS

Editor, Times-News:

Concerning our pardon board. I was real interested in the public forum a few days ago by Mr. Claude Detweiler. I agree with him on some things, but not all of them, when a man, or person, is proven guilty of a crime, he then should have to pay the extreme penalty. But, only when he is proven guilty or has confessed to said crime.

If you will kindly remember, the torture lasers awhile back, all confessed their part in the crime, and they were given from one to 10 years in prison, and after a few short months they were given a pardon, which was not right as we all know. It looks to me like a confessed murderer should draw more than from one to 10 years in prison when a person convicted purely on circumstantial evidence draws life in prison. When these people were given their release there wasn't much fuss about it but when Dune Johnston wanted his release from prison, a few so-called big shots of Twin Falls and surrounding country thought the pardon board wasn't doing right.

Why didn't, they set up a howl when Lydia Southard and a few others were set free? Why is it that they are so anxious to have Johnston kept in prison?

Mr. Detweiler, Mr. Taylor and Mr. Babcock, how would you like to have 24 good, fine men of Twin Falls county send you to prison for life purely on circumstantial evidence? Would you think justice had been done? No. For the law reads like this, a person or persons are innocent until proven guilty beyond a reasonable doubt, and also if you will notice Mr. Johnston never was proven guilty on any of the charges. And never did confess to a single thing.

I do not believe in Hitlerism and never will, for I believe in giving a man a fighting chance. I hope Johnston gets the same justice as others have before, but now I notice he didn't get that justice. I think the good book says when a wrong has been done it should be righted. I admire the spunk of Mr. and Mrs. Merrill who are in the thick of the fight for Johnston's release, and until the right person or persons are caught, Mr. Johnston is wasting his years in prison for a crime he never committed.

This is the way I see things.

AGREES WITH CONDEMNATION OF PARDON POLICY

Editor, Times-News:

In Public Forum Feb. 11, Mr. Claude H. Detweiler calls attention to the actions of the pardon board.

I will say that I agree with him as far as he went and if I had command of the English language that he has, I would have made it much stronger than he did. However, he showed us very clearly the attitude of the board in pardoning the rapist, while an ordinary working man was tortured to death in the most horrible way and the perpetrators were pardoned in a few months.

He also called our attention to the fact that the pardon board thinks pretty well of themselves, in assuming their judgment four and one third times as good as that of common men; inasmuch as they disregarded the findings of a judge and 12 jurymen.

I have always thought that the people should stand back of the administration of the law, and my neighbors are of the same mind 100 per cent, regardless of political or religious belief.

PARLEY TO STUDY BAG SUBSTITUTES

BOISE, Feb. 18 (AP)—Growing need for an adequate substitute for burlap bags made scarce by war conditions prompted Agriculture Commissioner J. B. Newport today to call a meeting of all interested persons at Pocatello Saturday.

"The bean growers apparently are facing an emergency equal to that of the potato growers," he commented. "It is hoped that at this meeting plans may be formulated that will take care of the bag situation in arranging for other package forms to take the place of burlap bags."

No effort will be made, Newport added, to coordinate efforts of various groups interested in obtaining suitable packaging for their products.

Sheepmen also have been confronted with a shortage of burlap wool sacks and are investigating cotton containers or wire bales.

SOCIAL EVENTS and CLUB NEWS

Up-to-the-Minute "News" Party Entertains B. P. W. Club Guests

By LUCILLE KNIGHT DUERIG

Singapore "fell" again and again last night, and "blackouts" glided mysteriously among the guests. "Books" paraded about the room, and a "merger" tried to keep in step with itself. A gracious pioneer lady, who "had been to Lincoln's birthday party" mingled with the "current" characters, and even a "pardon" board found itself represented when the Twin Falls Business and Professional Women's club entertained at a novel "Who-When-Where-What" party last evening in the parlors of the Christian church.

Club members and guests — members of the Magic-Y and Ber Gamma clubs — were asked to come costumed to represent a current event, the "currenter" the better, and to be prepared to answer questions regarding the other three points of the event they characterized.

Inexpensive Prizes

Because they have decided that they "can have as much fun without decorations and without fancy prizes; that their money can be used to better advantage in the purchase of defense stamps and bonds," club members awarded inexpensive prizes in the various contests which added to the evening's informal hilarity.

Miss Florence Lusk, attired in a newspaper costume held in place with yards and yards of string, presided as toastmaster, and when everyone else's costume had been displayed, discussed and deciphered, announced that she was "in the Pacific war area," explaining that the string and newspapers were symbolical of news from friends in the area that is unavailable or "tied up."

Singapore "fell" repeatedly at the instigation of Miss M. Izetta McCoy, who had written that name on a tiny slip of paper, and let it flutter to the floor each time she was asked what she represented.

Miss Ray Smith, one of the "blackouts," was awarded first prize by guests for the best costume. Completely clothed in black, she kept the secret of her identity best hidden from her friends.

Miss Jean Dinkelacker, club member, and her guest, Mrs. Lucile Knight Duerig, appeared as the "merger" and "de-mists making it necessary for one to go wherever the other went. Bright red sandwich boards worn by the two pointed to the recent consolidation of the Twin Falls News and the Idaho Evening Times, and the subsequent "merger" of the former two social departments.

Program Numbers

Introductory program number, "Taps," was given by a piano octette, under the direction of Mrs. Effie Rihard Hinton. Jean Wilson, Barbara Randall, Janet Pink and Marion Tolbert were pianos No. 1, and Donald Neilzen, Robert Neilsen, Norman Johnson and Arnold Johnson, at piano No. 2.

"The Rosary" was played by a quintet at the two pianos, with Marion Tolbert and Janet Pink at No. 1, and the Neilsen brothers and Norman Johnson at piano No. 2.

A group of high school girls from the dramatics class of Miss Florence M. Rees presented a group of short readings. Participants included Phyllicia Perry, Virla Bell, Shirley Hayes, Madge Hayward and Martha Barnett.

Adding spice to the evening's entertainment was the performance of three young pupils of the Kenworthy-Bloddard school of dancing, introduced by Wayne Kenworthy. Bertina Langdon appeared in a rhumba from Cuba; Dolores Cardwell, representing Argentina, danced a tango, and Lucille Langdon, "coming back to the U. S. A.," appeared in a snappy baton military number.

Miss Lucille Jacklin played two accordion solos later.

Honors in the quiz-type contest in which guests and their costumes figured went to the "merger" with credit for the prize belonging to Miss Dinkelacker. I know. I was the other half of the "merger."

Defense Donations

Tinfoil, cancelled stamps and empty metal tubes, collected as admittance fees to the party, will be turned over to the Tawanka group of the Camp Fire Girls for diversion into defense channels.

Arrangements for the party, which ended with refreshments featuring a patriotic note in deference to Washington's birthday, were under the direction of Miss Lusk, Miss Mildred Gill, Mrs. Julia O'Neal, Mrs. Marjorie Esling and Miss Fannie Amey, assisted by Mrs. Frankie K. Alworth, president.

Shrove Tuesday Party Conducted

Mrs. A. L. Norton and Jerry Christman won honors. Light refreshments were served by the vestrymen.

Current Topics Discussed During League Sessions

Senior, junior and sophomore girls at Twin Falls high school held their regular unit meetings of the Girls' league yesterday afternoon, each group featuring its program to work in with its yearly theme and ideas.

Following a short business meeting conducted by Miss Shirley Hayes, president of the sophomore unit, those girls enjoyed a radio program in charge of Miss Charlotte Thompson. Judge George I. M. Bored, played by Miss Ann Griffith, assisted by lawyers, Miss Audrey Goodyear and Miss Bobbie Jean Douglas, and their foreman, Miss Marilyn Mason, tried several persons for hoarding rubber, cosmetics, bobby pins and similar articles which will be or are on priorities lists.

"Court of Hoarders"

The "Court of Hoarders" tried "Miss G. O. Goolash," "Miss Rouge Powder," "Miss Bobby Pinn" and "Miss Bubbles Gum." Character parts were played by Miss Dorothy Halpin, Miss Margerie Hitt, Miss Pat Kelly and Miss Mary Ruth King.

Second part of the "broadcast" featured Miss Gloria Wilson as news commentator on the events about school, and final feature, "We, the Women in Defense," was sung by Miss Helen Hitt. Background music for the program, sponsored by the "Anti-Hog Tea company," was by Miss Eva Bell Smith at the piano, Miss Orpha Stokes, playing duets on their flutes.

Miss Vanetta Paddock spoke on "Women in Defense"; Miss Madge Hayward discussed hats, and Miss Shirley Hayes told of war shortages that will affect women. Miss Georgia Dean, sophomore unit sponsor, was present at the meet.

Dr. Marshall Talks

Senior girls heard the second in a series of talks by Dr. Joseph Marshall. These discussions are planned to replace with connected and purposeful programs the regular varied programs. Miss Norma Dickey, senior unit president, presided at the meeting; Miss Helen Miner, sponsor, and Mrs. Rose M. North, general sponsor, were both present.

Miss Marion Griggs arranged over the junior unit meeting, during which plans were made for a tea for the junior girls and their mothers, Tuesday, Feb. 24. Betty Ann Thometz and Peggy Higa, Helen Blue, Shirley Snider and Betty Ann Thometz were placed on a committee for arrangements for the event.

Following Miss Margaret Detweiler's word of thanks to the junior girls for their fine decorations at the Norwegian Danish ball, Mary Donald and Mrs. Phillips talked on what girls of 16-17 years of age can do in the Red Cross.

In conjunction with a current contest through the Girls' league, Miss Dorothy Earl presented her entry—a song for the girls of America, which she composed.

Expert Tells Trends Of Home Decorations

Dream houses took form, and rooms in need of redecorating changed their appearances in the minds of Home and Garden club members of the Twentieth Century club Tuesday afternoon, as Don Donnelly, Boise, interior decorator, swirled colorful fabrics before their eyes, and talked in terms of "draperies, carpets and wall paper." Session was held at the American Legion Memorial hall.

New ways to bring harmony, beauty and tranquility to the home—first line of defense were pointed out by Mr. Donnelly, one of Idaho's foremost authorities on interior decorating. He brought with him several pieces of drapery and upholstery materials and other fabrics, to illustrate color harmonies and contrasts.

Decorating Trends

His talk was one of a series under the general heading of "The Evolution of the Home," arranged with Mrs. Bartlett Sinclair as general chairman.

"Keep woodwork light and dull, especially in the living and dining rooms. And even wall paper should be light in figure," he cautioned his audience.

Other decorating trends pointed out were:

1—Carpets should be the dominant color of a room.

2—Deep rose is a good basic color for couches and other major items of furniture in a room, because so many other colors blend well with it.

3—Use pictures sparingly. One mirror arrangement in a large-sized living room, with no more than three pictures should comprise the wall hangings. And then, the room should be large.

4—If using oriental rugs and 18th century or heavy pieces of furniture in a room, only damask should be used as the drapery material.

Mrs. Brown Elected

Election of officers for next year took place during a business session, presided over by Mrs. Sinclair.

Mrs. T. C. Brown was elected chairman, succeeding Mrs. Sinclair; Mrs. Elmer F. Ross, vice-chairman, succeeding Mrs. K. Duane Hodge, and Mrs. Russell Miller, secretary, succeeding Mrs. Thomas R. White.

Mrs. Albert Corless sang "The Spirit Flower" and "Lindy Lou." Presiding at the tea table were Mrs. Sinclair and Mrs. White. A Washington-Lincoln table was arranged by the hostess committee, with Mrs. George Ward as chairman.

Mrs. William Baker invited members to attend the Fine Arts department program next Tuesday at 2:30 p. m. at the Presbyterian church parlors, when Mrs. Effie Richard Hinton will be in charge of a program on "The Evolution of Music."

MARTY SERVO ENDS RING CAREER FOR TEXAS LEW JENKINS

Coast Guard Battler Wins Easy Decision

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 18 (U.P.) — A jolting left hook thrown by Marty Servo, U. S. coastguardsman, sent Lew Jenkins, former lightweight champion, reeling down the fistic ladder last night.

Battered from the opening gong until the final bell, Jenkins went through 10 rounds of shameless that left him a reeling, bloody hulk, game to the end but unable to cope with the dynamite in Servo's left.

In handing Jenkins the worst beating of his career, Servo avenged the defeat of his cousin, Lou Ambers, who lost the lightweight title to the Texan nearly two years ago.

Ambers Sees Match

Ambers was among the sell-out crowd of 9,000 and watched from the first row while Servo battered Jenkins into submission.

At the opening gong, Servo came out with his left cocked and let it go. The blow caught Jenkins full on the face and left the former champion wary from there on. At the end of the second round Jenkins' left eye was bleeding.

The Texan held on for two rounds taking terrific punishment, and then came out in the fifth with both hands flying. A right hand and a left caught Servo on the head and the coastguardsman was shaken.

Weathers Storm

Servo weathered the storm, though, coming back strong enough to win the round. He knocked Jenkins down in the seventh. On the count of two Jenkins came up on one knee and at nine stood up.

In the eighth, blood was streaming from so many cuts on Jenkins' face that the crowd clamored for the fight to be ended.

Referee Benny Leonard examined Jenkins between rounds and permitted the fight to go on. Servo never stopped and when the fight ended, Jenkins was reeling around the ring.

Servo weighed 130½, Jenkins 134¾.

Walter Lowe Signs 1942 Pilot Contract

BOISE, Feb. 18 (AP)—Home-run slugger Walt Lowe has signed his name on the dotted line and will wear a Boise Pilots uniform again this season.

But several of his fellow-members of the 1941 Pioneer league championship club won't be on hand for the 1942 season, Owner Hadyn Walker said today.

Infielder Bill Schlesinger also has returned a signed contract and Louis Tomane, a 19-year-old San Francisco youngster, has been signed for the shortstop job.

But missing will be Pitcher Bob Snyder, 21-game winner; second baseman Jack Radtke, voted the league's most valuable player; Pitcher Frank Manchester and Outfielder Ray Bauer. They have joined the armed services or are engaged in war industry work.

How many more will fail to show up Walker doesn't know.

No Slashes in Salaries for Dodger Stars

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., Feb. 18 (AP)—Free-handed Larry MacPhail, whose spending gave the Brooklyn Dodgers a National league pennant, can't see the war as an excuse for cutting baseball salaries.

While other clubs are reported tightening their purse strings in the face of the national emergency, MacPhail said Brooklyn players who earned salary raises will get them.

"When a ball player comes to me and starts talking about a contract," the executive continued, "he usually says he expects to have a big year.

"I always tell him 'brother, I put out on the basis of what you did last year' I've said that all my life. The player knows it.

"I may expect him to have a good year, but I point out that if he does he'll benefit the following season.

"We had a good year. We won the pennant and we brought a lot of people into the ball park.

"We'd better get hurt now before we start tryin' too hard. It's up to us to give the players what they are due, and take a shot on taking in the money to pay them.

"What right have we to get panicky and start talking war in discussing terms?"

Rostock Sets Score Record

LA GRANDE, Ore., Feb. 18 (U.P.)—Ernie Rostock, Eastern Oregon college star, who achieved his college ambition by beating Hank Luisetti's scoring record, said today he hopes to "settle down and play some real basketball" in his final game now that the pressure is off.

Rostock's shooting accuracy had faltered as he began to approach the former All-American's all-time record of 1,506. Stanley Modrezelewski hit the hoop for 14 against Monmouth to pass Modrezelewski's mark with a total of 1,508.

Rostock's feat probably won't get official recognition because Eastern Oregon doesn't schedule "major" opponents, but that doesn't worry him.

"Towns only after Luisetti's record," he said. "Now I can settle down and play some basketball."

Trosky Requests Full Retirement

DES MOINES, Feb. 18 (AP)—Hal Trosky, 29-year-old slugging first baseman for the Cleveland Indians, said he has asked to be placed on the retired list "indefinitely," the Des Moines Register said in a copyrighted story today.

He said his action was motivated by migraine headaches which forced him to leave the Cleveland baseball club near the end of last season.

He has been with the Cleveland club nine years and has a major league batting average of .314.

Pocatello Buys Young Backstop

POCATELLO, Ida., Feb. 18 (U.P.)—Douglas Dean, local business manager of the Pocatello Cardinals, today announced purchase of catcher Al Klotzz from the Springfield, Mo., club of the Western association. This will be Klotzz' second year in professional baseball.

Otto Scores Two Points

Twin Falls Bruins got some revenge for the recent beatings they have been taking at the hands of the Burley Bobcats during the past two seasons when they scored a 44-28 victory last night. Here Otto Florence (No. 44) goes in for a set-up and two points. Others in the picture: Klink, Burley (No. 20); Terry, Twin Falls (No. 9).

Bruins Thump Burley 44-28 in Rough Tilt

The backfield from the 1941 Twin Falls Bruin gridiron club went into motion and in a slam-bang cage battle here last night trimmed the visiting Burley Bobcats by a score of 44-28.

The victory evened the series for the season between the two schools, Burley having taken the early-season tussle between the clubs on the Bobcat floor by just as lop-sided a score.

Officials were in a "lenient" frame of mind for last night's battle and the boys took advantage of the situation to stage one of the roughest battles played on the local floor in recent years. The result was anything but good basketball.

However, an excitable crowd made life miserable for both players and referees, with the result that the boys threw wild passes, "piled," and otherwise played the knock-down, drag-out game.

Burley took an early 5-1 lead, but the Bruins came back to knot the count at 5-all and then fall behind again, 8-6 at the quarter.

However, Coach Dode Cranney's club really got under way in the second stanza and with Otto Florence and Glenn Gibb leading the way, the Twin Falls team up up a 23-12 advantage at the intermission.

Third quarter showed no change in the situation when the final stanza got underway the Bobcats trailed by a 35-22 count.

— Gibb Leads Scoring

Glenn Gibb led the scoring with 17 points on eight field goals and midway in the first frame on four personal fouls. All the Bruin scoring was divided between Tom Cartney, Glenn Terry, Florence and Gibb.

Meanwhile, the Burley boys divided honors, with Jones topping all counters with six points.

The preliminary saw the Burley frosh-soph club trounce the Cubs by a 31-21 margin after the two teams had been tied at 17-all at the intermission.

Lineups:

Twin Falls	POS	Burley
Cartney (8)	F	(2) Roberts
Terry, (9)	F	(5) Klink
Florence (10)	C	(4) Robinson
Gibb (17)	G	(3) Bradshaw
Hulbert	G	(4) Woods

Substitutions: Twin Falls—Petty-gore, Britzer, Mahoney, Wallace, Peterson; Burley—Evans, Carter (2), Baker, Jones (6), Garrett (2).

Father and Son Act This Season In Big Leagues

FORT WORTH, Texas., Feb. 18 (AP)—There'll be a father-son act in the major this year but the principals will be in different leagues.

Kenneth E. (Little) Ziggy Sears determined at the start of his baseball career he would not go to the big show with a psychological strike already against him.

Had both been players it would have worked out all right, but it happens that Little Ziggy is a catcher and the father, John (Ziggy) Sears, is a National league umpire.

Little Ziggy, four years in professional baseball and labeled one of the brightest prospects of them all, leaves tomorrow for St. Petersburg, Fla., to join the New York Yankees.

Last season he hit .301 for Newark, including 20 home runs.

Connie Mack Heads West For Training

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 18 (U.P.)—Connie Mack—and his 1942 version of the Philadelphia Athletics leave for their California spring training camp tonight with what Mack thinks is the best pitching staff since he broke up his famous hurling squad of 10 years ago.

With only three players missing, Mack will take 18 to 20 athletes to Anaheim, where 14 of the squad, including several "promising" young pitchers, already are getting the kinks out of their arms.

Absence of holdouts Dick Siebert, Bob Johnson and Mike Kreevich didn't seem to displease Mack. He has included them in his plans for what he considers an "inspiring" team.

The trio is part of the backbone of the A's. Athletics, Siebert, the leading hitter for the A's last year, was figured for the initial sack, with Kreevich and Johnson, homerun slugger, in the outfield.

Mack was jubilant over his pitching material.

"We've already got 14 pitchers in California," he said. "A lot of them are youngsters but some of them seem to be developing right well."

Nine of last year's club are in the army and navy, but Mack believed he had adequate substitutes to fill the spots.

He is particularly pleased with the shooting of young Eddie Collins, son of the famous infielder.

MacMitchell Guns for Mile Record

By PAUL SCHIEFFELS

NEW YORK, Feb. 18 (U.P.)—At 21 years of age, Leslie MacMitchell, New York university's great miler, is five years away from his top but that won't hurt his chances of betering the Madison Square Garden mile record at the New York Athletic club games Saturday night.

MacMitchell equalled the record when he snapped the tape a year ago to win the Baxter mile in 4:07.4 but he had to give all he had to fight off the determined challenge of Walter Mehl.

The two runners crossed the tape stride for stride in a finish so close that clockers were unable to separate the two in different timings and the renewal of that duel this year is expected to bring a new Garden record.

MacMitchell has been working out at Ohio field. He said he would run according to Coach Emil von Elling's schedule that should produce a 4:06 mile.

"I'll tell you why I feel confident that I can make that figure despite the punishing pace I'll have to keep up for four quarters," MacMitchell said. "Last year's winning race in record-equalling time came after—well, let's call it a jockeying race.

"You can't run like that and come through with a record race—at least, I can't. This time, no matter what happens, I figure to run evenly without expending too much energy in any of the earlier quarters. That should produce results, but you never can tell."

Von Elling plans to send MacMitchell through four quarters at the times of :61, :62, :63 and :60—give or take a second.

Gordon Heads For Florida Training Camp

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 18 (AP) — Given a rousing "happy birthday" sendoff by his in-laws, Joe Gordon, introduced with the second sack for the world champion New York Yankees, climbed into the family automobile and headed for Florida and another season of baseball.

Today was Joe's 27th birthday, but he beamed like a young man just entering the twenties as he and his wife and youngster in the car, kissed his mamma-in-law goodbye and drove away.

Gordon can't share the so-called humor of those mother-in-law jokes. He and his wife's mamma, Dr. Grace Crum, are close pals, and each year they celebrate their birthdays together.

"We did it even before he and my daughter were married," said Dr. Crum. "We had our big party last night at the Gordon's home, and happy birthday, Joe Irene."

Gordon looked in great shape after a winter of hunting and bowling at his home, Ore., home.

Gordon hasn't signed a contract yet, but figures it'll be settled, as usual, after he reaches camp.

Tulsa Coach Is Talked for Yale

TULSA, Okla., Feb. 18 (AP)—To Coach Henry Frnka's waiting ear has come the first faint whispering from football's big time, but the cautious Texan is playing deaf — for the present, at least.

At Philadelphia yesterday it was reported that the young University of Tulsa coach would be sounded out in connection with the head football job at Yale.

"I've been happy here in Tulsa," was the amiable Frnka's response to the news. "I haven't been contacted officially by the Yale folks but I feel that it's a compliment to be mentioned."

Sale of Cowboy Stock Gets Under Way Here

Four Twin Falls dyed-in-the-wool baseball fans started out this morning on a little movement they hope will become a gigantic snowball that will roll in $5,000 to start operations of the Twin Falls Cowboys for the 1942 season.

The four—George Paulson, Harry Walters, Dale Wildman and Hal Wood — commenced operations this morning and hoped to have $1,000 to show for their efforts by nightfall.

The Plan is to sell $5,000 worth of preferred stock in the Twin Falls baseball organization to business men, fans and others interested in keeping the Pioneer league franchise in Twin Falls. They hope to raise the full $5,000 inside one week.

Members of the committee will call on prospective purchasers and asked to assist in the sale of stock subscribed.

Meanwhile, city officials came through with agreement to assure cooperation in operation of the baseball park during the coming season and plans were already being laid for nasemblage of a ball club that would give Twin Falls a place in the sun for the 1942 season.

No new officers have been elected to handle the club with President Jay Smith and Business Manager Carl Anderson officially reaign, but as soon as the fund has been assured these steps will be taken, it was indicated today.

The Pioneer league schedule, released today, shows the opening game for the Cowboys at Ogden on May 1. Twin Falls opens the home schedule pits Idaho Falls against the Wranglers at Jaycee park on May 5, 6 and 7. The Cowboys end the season at Boise with a double-header on Sept. 7.

SPORT Spoubs by Hal Wood

After watching last night's little fiasco at the local basketball court we're of the opinion that maybe this "crow's nest" officiating wouldn't be a bad thing at that.

We doubt that many referees in southern Idaho would have been able to hold down the activities of players in the Burley-Bruin contest because the athletes were keyed to such a high state of nervousness by the most excitable crowd of the season.

In fact, the noise was deafening from the opening whistle until late in the third quarter when the Bruin lead got to be what most partisan fans would call "comfortable."

It is probable that officials posted above the court would have been able to see and call many of the fouls that were obvious to workers at the scorers' table—but which were screened by hard-charging players from the officials on the court.

It's not too late in the season yet for the Twin Falls school officials to try out such a test and we believe it should be given a try—especially after it has met with such approval in the few places tried out.

Of course, it couldn't be used in tournament play, but it would prove an innovation for players and fans alike for one game— and it might possibly be a good attraction to fill the gym. There are four home games yet on the Bruin schedule and it might be worth a try.

Backers of the Twin Falls Cowboy baseball club were out on the streets last night and today with their campaign to sell stock in the Cowboy baseball team — and the early reports were very gratifying, according to those in charge.

It appears very much from early conversations that the fan in general is fully in favor of keeping the Twin Falls franchise active in the Pioneer league and he is willing to prove it by digging down a little to help keep things in order.

Getting back to last night's basketball game, there's the case of Marvin Bond, one of the referees, who was having his troubles.

In fact, during the intermission, Marv got slightly confused when he started to leave for the players' room. He walked one way, looking another and when he turned around he was right in a line of marching bandsmen — where he was forced to stay until the end of the gym was reached and he could escape.

Short shots:

Too bad about the Burley Elks tournament being called off—it was becoming a grand institution, such as the Gooding outlaw meet and gave south central Idaho one of the best three-day independent sessions in the state . . . Don't count out the Burley Bobcats when you consider the fine prospects for the district class A cage championship—Coach Rulon Budge's quintets have a habit of bouncing back around tournament time every year, despite losses just before the annual meet . . .

There is some talk that the Twin Falls Cowboys might do their baseball training at Jaycee park instead of spending two or three thousand dollars making a trip into Washington . . . Corny Warnerdam is the biggest track and field attraction in the track and field game and has done more to boost gate receipts in that show in the east than any one other man . . .

Walker Gives up Omaha Franchise

BOISE, Feb. 18 (AP)—Hadyn Walker, cigar-chewing owner of the Boise Pilots, won't operate the Western league franchise he bought for Omaha, Neb.

Walker, whose pilots won the Pioneer league championship last season, purchased the Omaha franchise when the Western league had plans underway to expand to eight clubs.

"There's too much uncertainty right now," Walker said. "Omaha must have a park and the facilities with which to play night ball. During war times you can't always get materials."

And Walker added: "Besides if this isn't all over in a year we may not be playing ball at all."

BOND ALLOTMENT SPEED-UP URGED

Regional executives of the defense savings organization, following conferences with John R. Viley, state administrator, and R. M. Logsdon, deputy administrator, today called upon all county executive chairmen to renew their efforts in establishing the payroll savings plan throughout the state.

While it was previously announced that work of establishing the payroll allotment system would be completed and final reports made to Boise by Jan. 31, Mr. Viley explained that it will now be necessary to "carry on until the job is done."

Denver Conference

"I have just returned from a meeting at Denver," Mr. Viley explained, "at which internal revenue collectors from seven states in the intermountain west were called into conference to discuss our national emergency.

"In effect we were told that unless the people buy more stamps and bonds and employers and employes offer greater cooperation in establishing the payroll saving plan, it will be necessary for the government to raise defense funds through direct taxation and compulsory payroll deductions. There is no time for further delay. The emergency is too serious, and the government must determine at once just how much support will be coming from the people in our great wartime effort."

Small Businesses Included

Mr. Viley urged that all executive chairmen in Twin Falls, Cassia, Minidoka, Lincoln, Jerome, Blaine, Gooding and Camas counties begin work immediately on installing the payroll savings plan in all businesses with two or more employes.

"This work should be completed within the next two weeks," he emphasized, and individual reports of participation in the plan should be forwarded to the Boise office immediately thereafter.

"Originally we had planned to launch the pledge card drive on Feb. 15, it being the assumption that all payroll allotment work would have have been completed before that time," he explained, "but now we find the payroll savings system must be completed first, and the pledge card work will come later, probably about the middle of March."

Speaks at Buhl

R. S. Tofflemire, regional coordinator for the counties listed above, conferred with the defense savings stamp and bond organization at Buhl last night, explaining in detail the importance of the remaining payroll allotment work. It was indicated at this meeting that the drive in Buhl, Castleford and Clover would get under way at once. A similar meeting was held with Twin Falls chairmen today and others are planned throughout this area within the next week.

Mr. Tofflemire urged all executive chairmen in the eight counties to complete their payroll savings round-up as quickly as possible, and requested that they contact him for any additional necessary information or supplies.

"It's a job that must be finished for our own good," he said, "and each committee worker must shoulder his responsibility."

Sugar Listed In Items for War Aid Sale

Ten-pound sack of sugar will go on the block at the auction for the benefit of the American Red Cross war relief fund, which starts at 1 p. m. tomorrow in the former McVey building in Twin Falls.

"Sugar, under the rationing plan, will be scarce in the future," suggested O. T. Koster, general chairman of the affair, which is sponsored by Knull, Mountain Rock, Hollister and Twin Falls Granges.

Kippered Herring

Another rare commodity which will be auctioned is canned Norwegian kippered herring, a supply which has been severed by the war. Other items which will be sold are a lady's coat, a man's suit, and two boys' suits. Also on the block will be orders for a veterinary call, and a permanent wave. Cigars, sets of dishes and other items will be sold for the Red Cross.

Meanwhile, the auction sale was given the approval of Dr. Charles R. Scott, war relief chairman of the Twin Falls county chapter of the American Red Cross.

He said "There is no real quota as I look at it in this matter. It is not like an assessment for taxes, in which a certain amount is due in payment for specific things.

To Relieve Suffering

"We are raising a fund to relieve human misery and suffering brought on by the war. The extent to which this human misery and progress will go will depend on the day-to-day progress of the war.

"But," he pointed out, "the portion that may be relieved will be limited by the funds available for this purpose."

Persons who have any usable articles to contribute for the auction were requested by Koster to leave them at the McVey building at any time today or before the auction tomorrow afternoon.

CHURCHES MIGHT HOUSE EVACUEES

In case of sudden evacuation of civilians from coast areas, or the need of barracks for soldiers, southern Idaho churches will be required to make their buildings and equipment available for such purposes.

This possibility was called to the attention of more than 200 persons who attended the all-church dinner meeting at the Methodist church last evening by Rev. H. G. McCallister, pastor.

He quoted Ernest Peterson, religious editor of a Portland, Ore., newspaper, who is also engaged in special defense work for the government, as the authority for this statement. Peterson addressed a ministers' seminar last week at Boise.

Scouts Honored

Members of the Boy Scout troop No. 67, sponsored by the Methodist Men's club, were special guests. In addition to Scouts, 175 persons attended the dinner. Fred Latham was toastmaster.

Delbert Burkhalter, Jerome, who was employed in the national headquarters offices of the Boy Scouts of America, prior to resigning to enter military service, addressed the group, relating the history of Scouting since the organization began.

He told of how Boy Scout organizations had been obliterated in other countries by Hitler, but said that Boy Scouts were still functioning in England, and aiding the government materially in war efforts.

Demonstrations

Methodist troop members gave a demonstration of signaling and first aid, and also gave the Scout oath and the duties of a Scout. Dr. Orrin Fuller gave a demonstration of bugle calls used in war.

Invocation was pronounced by Rev. McCallister, and Mrs. C. H. Stinson played the piano accompaniment for the singing of "America." Scouting emblems and patriotic motifs were the decorations for the dinner tables.

No Golf Playing Until Next Month

Playing on the Twin Falls municipal golf course will not be permitted until sometime in March and exact date will be announced later, Carl Ritchey, city parks commissioner, said this afternoon.

Ritchey pointed out that some people have played on the course on recent days and that because greens and fairways are soft, both will be badly damaged if such a practice is kept on.

The commissioner said that the caretaker has been given full authority to order trespassers from the course until formal opening. In all probability a Sunday program during March will mark start of the golf season here.

NEW YORK, Feb. 18 (AP)—Stocks achieved a slightly better footing today after extending in the early proceedings the Tuesday decline.

Late recoveries chiefly were beneficial to steels, rails and a scattering of industrial specialties but the comeback failed to touch other parts of the list. A number of the recently depressed blue chips continued their retreat. Minor gains and losses were about evenly distributed at the close.

Transactions approximately 350,000 shares.

American Telephone pushed up as much as a point or so after announcement that directors had voted the usual quarterly dividend of $2.25 a share.

Stocks holding fairly well most of the time included Chrysler, Bethlehem Steel, U. S. Rubber, Santa Fe, Southern Pacific and Great Northern.

Inclined to waver were American Can, Eastman, Johns-Manville, J. C. Penney and Allied Chemical. The last named reached a new 1941-42 low.

Bonds were irregularly lower with further pressure on Australian issues.

LATE SALES CUT PRICE OF GRAINS

CHICAGO, Feb. 18 (AP)—Grain prices reached new highs since late in January today as the recent creeping advance continued but the market's forward drive was weakened by increased profit-taking and quiet hedging sales. Fractional losses were posted at the close.

Still awaiting congressional action to raise the minimum prices at which government stocks of wheat and corn could be offered for sale, the market responded to moderate purchases attributed to interests that use grains in processing and consumption. Speculative or investment buying, however, was greatly restricted by uncertainty regarding the government program and the war situation.

Wheat closed ⅛-¼ lower than yesterday, May $1.30⅝-¼, July $1.32¼; corn ⅛-⅜ down, May 88, July 89½; oats ¼-1 lower; rye ⅜-⅝ down; soybeans unchanged to ⅜ lower.

LOUISE PLANS A PARTY

CHAPTER III

AT the northern end of Union street stood Thurston St. George's red brick house. Thurston St. George was very old and very rich.

At the western extremity of Federal street, Aberdeen College lifted its pillared portico and looked straight across the town to the insane asylum whose white galleries and many-windowed facades gleamed through the trees three-quarters of a mile away.

These were social boundaries. Every step away from these clearly marked precincts took a step downward in the well-defined and perfectly understood social order of Kings Row.

The St. Georges, with the Sansomes, the Curleys, the Gordons, and the Skeffingtons, made up a strong and influential social stronghold. They were sometimes referred to irreverently by lesser people as the "Big Five."

Col. Isaac Skeffington was a lawyer—"the best defense lawyer in the state." Everyone knew like Skeffington, most people liked him, and a good many were genuinely afraid of his caustic tongue. He was a tall, gaunt man with a fiery red beard that spread its splendors to his lowest vest button. He wore a frock coat the year round and, save in the hottest weather, a tall silk hat.

• • •

SKEFFINGTON walked through his vegetable-garden one morning, and came out on the sidewalk. He stopped and took off his tall hat with a near flourish.

"Good morning, Marie, good morning, ma'am. How are you this fine morning?"

A basket phaeton, its cream-colored fringes swaying to the jog trot of a small plump horse, came to a halt. Madame von Elm greeted the colonel cordially. He smiled at Parris.

"How are you, sonny?"

"Very well, sir, thank you, Colonel Skeffington."

"Fine boy you're raising, Marie. He's got manners. What are you going to make out of him?"

"Well, he wants to be a doctor."

"Nonsense. Working around with stinking pills and stuff."

"Stuff! Make him a lawyer. He ought to be a smart one. You're smart, his daddy was smart, and his granddaddy Mitchell was smart."

In the middle of the next block he squinted narrowly at a dingy house set in the midst of tangled shrubbery and swarming vines.

A girl with copper-colored curls was standing at the decrepit gate.

The colonel bowed gravely. "Good morning, sissy."

She looked at him without smiling. After a moment's hesitation she replied, "My name is Cassandra."

"Oh, ho! Is that so? You are Dr. Tower's little girl!"

"Yes. Yes, sir."

"Fine crop of curly hair you've got, miss, fine color—like mine." He removed his hat and shook his long straight locks. "Redheads have got spunk and character. Don't you ever forget it."

Dr. Tower came out on the front porch as Colonel Skeffington walked away.

"Cassandra!"

"Yes, sir."

"Come in the house."

• • •

DR. ALEXANDER Q. TOWER had lived in Kings Row for eight years. No one was quite sure where he had come from. Such arrivals were few in Kings Row professional ranks. Usually, if a new doctor or lawyer moved in, it was only after looking over the field and consulting with the banks and business men. Dr. Tower had settled here without any preliminaries.

A few women called. They found Mrs. Tower a quiet, well-bred lady, but singularly uncommunicative.

So far as anyone knew, Dr. Tower had never had a patient. After a while the office rooms remained shuttered, and Dr. Tower was seen less and less frequently.

It was said on the authority of Lucius Curley, the banker, that Dr. Tower was "well fixed"—the regulation phrase describing anyone of ample means.

Everyone heard that he had fitted up a long room at the back of the house as a sort of laboratory. Bottles and curious apparatus and hundreds of books, it was said. But there was no guessing what he might be studying or working at.

For several years now, Mrs. Tower could be seen every day, sitting inside her living room window. Colonel Skeffington often said that Mrs. Tower looked as if she were—he hesitated—"She's listening for something," he remarked to his friend, Miles Jackson. "If that women doesn't end up in the lunatic asylum over there, I'll be surprised. . . . I wonder what that 'Q' in his name stands for."

• • •

SEVERAL days after Cassandra had mentioned her party to Parris, some 35 children received invitations.

Louise Gordon showed her invitation to her mother. Louise was the only child of Dr. Henry Gordon. Mrs. Gordon was a social power.

Mrs. Gordon smiled a peculiar smile. "Why don't you have a party of your own?"

"Honestly? Could I? But I want to go to Cassandra's party, too. Why can't I? Then I could invite her."

"You could have your party at the same time," Mrs. Gordon suggested.

All of that week there was much buzzing on the playground about the two parties. Girls whispered together in little groups and boys asked each other self-consciously, "Which party are you goin' to?"

Louise Gordon was busy with her lists. She was certain of some 15 or so of Cassandra's guests. Her mother had undertaken to extend some of the invitations in her behalf. She had suggested more than once during the course of her chats with parents how desirable it really was to have normal, healthy children meet and enjoy themselves under cheerful and normal conditions.

Louise spoke to Parris the first day after her mother's decision. "I want you to come to my party, Parris. Saturday. We've going to have lots of fun."

"I can't, Louise. I told Cassandra I'd come to her house."

Cassandra Tower gave no sign. Seemingly she was unaware of the unwonted excitement.

Opinion and inclination had been swaying for two or three days. Boys had begun to notice Cassandra—more and more, and this was the first chance they had had to see her at home. But gradually it seemed indeed that everybody was going to Louise's.

There were only five guests in the Tower parlor when Parris arrived.

"I don't know why everybody's so late," she said to Parris. "I invited ever and ever so many."

"Oh, well," he said casually, "you know how awful busy everybody is on Saturdays. Come on, let's play something. What do you want to play, Cassie?"

The party was a failure.

He saw Dr. and Mrs. Tower talking quietly together. Dr. Tower was speaking very rapidly and Mrs. Tower said "ah-h" when Parris came into the hall. He repeated polite party speeches to them, and Dr. Tower bowed gravely. Mrs. Tower smiled.

"Thank you," she said gently in response to his formality. "I hope you'll come again."

Parris decided that Louise had been very mean to give this party the same day as Cassandra's. He believed she must have done it "on purpose."

At the end of the next week the school principal received a note from Dr. Tower saying that he was withdrawing Cassandra from school.

GROUP RENAMED AS "WAR BOARD"

Signifying aggressive spirit of Americans since Pearl harbor and the importance of agriculture in carrying on the war, Twin Falls county USDA defense board has been renamed the Twin Falls county USDA war board.

The change in name has no effect on duties of the board, Walter Reese, chairman, explained today, except to intensify its work in coordinating the war-winning activities of the agencies of the United States department of agriculture, and in cooperating with other war and defense organizations.

The board, made up of the local representatives of federal agricultural agencies, has its present projects the food for victory production drive, collection of scrap iron in rural areas, and a campaign to urge farmers to repair farm machinery immediately so it will be ready for spring work.

Cooperation with the civilian defense committee has been pledged by the county war board, and county and community AAA committeemen and the personnel of other department of agriculture agencies are cooperating with the county defense savings committee in contacting farmers with defense savings pledge cards.

Members of the USDA war board in this county are D. T. Bolingbroke, county agent; George L. Watt, representative from Production Credit association; L. F. Wiseman of the farm security administration; Elmer C. Ross of the forest service; R. C. Bergeson, representative from the soil conservation service; and Mr. Reese, county AAA chairman, who also serves as chairman of the war board.

SCHOOLS TO END YEAR ON MAY 18

Definite shortening of the school year for the Twin Falls system was announced today in a move to release youths for spring farm labor one week earlier than usual.

Supt. A. W. Morgan, with whom the board of trustees had left the decision, said this afternoon the school system will end the year Monday, May 18. The usual spring vacation of two days in late April will be cancelled.

First plan had been to use Saturday, May 16, as the final day. But Supt. Morgan said that idea was abandoned and Monday, May 18, will be the "cleanup" day on which report cards will be distributed.

"Any boys who are already doing farm work by that date," he said, "will not be required to come to school. Their cards will be mailed to them."

Shortening of the year in the Twin Falls system makes such efforts unanimous in south central Idaho. Other schools plan to release their students from one to three weeks earlier than usual. Many of the institutions are utilizing the six-day week. Shortage of farm labor in the spring is expected to bring need of all possible high school boys in crop and general farm work.

Missionary Talks To Boy Students

Otto Florence, president, presided over the session, and Jim Reynolds, accompanied by Mrs. O. P. Duvall, sang two numbers, in keeping with the patriotic theme of the program. These were "The Red, White and Blue" and "You Can Defend America."

DESTROYER SHAW COMPLETES TRIP

HONOLULU, Feb. 18 (U.P.)—The 1,500-ton destroyer Shaw, which the Japanese "destroyed" in their sneak attack on Pearl harbor Dec. 7, has reached the United States under her own power for reconditioning, the navy disclosed today.

The Shaw, which was in drydock when the Japanese attacked, was hit repeatedly by bombs, the navy said, one of which exploded her magazines and wrecked her forward section.

An emergency bow was constructed to enable the Shaw to reach a west coast port, it was announced.

The Shaw was launched in 1935 at the Philadelphia navy yard. She was the second destroyer of that name. The first was cut in two by the British troopship Aquitania in an English channel fog in 1918, but its commander, now Vice-Admiral William A. Glassford, sailed the after part of the ship to Portland, England, 50 miles away, receiving the navy cross for the feat. A new bow was constructed and the first Shaw served with the fleet until 1926.

Soldier Starts One-Man Drive Against Women in Uniforms

BY FREDERICK C. OTHMAN

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 18 (U.P.)—Private Fred A. Banker, first class, of Battery A, third coast artillery, Port MacArthur, Calif., started a one-soldier campaign today against ladies striding around in unpressed khaki uniforms and giving fighting men like himself the heebies.

All he did was write a note to the post newspaper suggesting that there be more form in the female uniform. Lieut. David Bramson, the editor, took up the cudgels against females in khaki and cited Miss Olivia de Havilland as an example. In a uniform, he said, she looks like a boy. In a dress, he added gallantly, she is the epitome of feminine charm.

By that time Private Banker's complaint had trickled into Hollywood, where such ladies as Ida Lupino, Carole Landis, Kay Francis, Constance Bennett, Myrna Loy, Jeanette MacDonald, Mrs. Darryl F. Zanuck and many another wear some of the most magnificent uniforms seen this side of Herman Goering. Some of the feminine uniform wearers were incensed. Some refused to be quoted.

"Where has the fairer sex disappeared?" demanded Private Banker. "We have been on 24-hour duty since Dec. 7. Last week some of us got our first pass since the war. We immediately went to Hollywood boulevard. But instead of the usual beauty parade, we saw hordes of mannish creatures in unpressed 'skibby' khaki striding up and down. We were so disappointed, we returned to the reservation."

Miss de Havilland reported she was a non-combatant. Said she never had worn a uniform except once when the New York office of her studio asked her to pose in one. She added that she was glad the army liked her in a dress.

Miss Lamour, who sold $25,000,000 worth of defense bonds on her recent tour, said she had functioned without benefit of chevrons. Numerous experts in numerous cities urged her to don numerous uniforms, but she stuck to evening dresses, and tight fitting at that.

"And I think I did just as much good in my own clothes," said she.

Jane Wyman begged to differ with Private Banker. She said war work involved considerable wear and tear on clothes and that khaki stood up better than chiffon.

"Furthermore a woman war worker must return home late at night, night after night," she said. "If she wears a uniform, she is protected."

This statement was relayed to Private Banker. He agreed with Miss Wyman.

"I'll say she is protected," said Private Banker. "Automatically."
